Canadian Jet Smashes Into Two Houses, Kills Nine Persons

7 Civilians Burned Beyond Recognition

Ville Jacques Cartier, Que., (AP) — An RCAF twin-jet fighter crashed into two wooden houses in this Montreal suburb yesterday, burst into flames and turned the houses into a roaring inferno for the two-man crew, five children, a young girl and an elderly woman.

The Royal Canadian Air Force super-speed CF100 fighter had just taken off from its base at St. Hubert, four miles away. There was no indication of the reason for the crash.

The RCAF immediately issued a statement deploring the deaths of the seven civilian victims and promising a quick inquiry into the tragedy.

It declined to identify the two crewmen until their families have been notified.

The remains of the victims were so badly burned that immediate identification was difficult but Father Adolphe, a Franciscan priest, identified the civilian dead as:

Pierrette Lavoie, 3, Collette Lavoie, 5, Normand Lavoie, 6; Michel Bourassa, 6, Ginette Bourassa, 2, Mrs. Emile Bourassa, 30; Mrs. Emile Fournier, the Bourassa children's grandmother, 59.

Emilien Fournier and two daughters, Simone Fournier, 31, and Denise Fournier, 18, were taken to hospital suffering from shock.

In Montreal, the city morgue said they had received a half-dozen bodies, all of them badly burned. An attendant said they would be "very difficult to identify."

One eyewitness, Ernest Cyr, 39, who lives across the street, said the craft barely missed his house. "I just came home from work when I heard a noise that became louder and louder," he said. "I figured it was a plane and it sounded as if it was going to crash into my house."

"I told my family to get out of the house. A few seconds later, the plane smashed into the houses. They caught on fire immediately."

AFL Council Decides To Suspend ILA

Chicago (AP) — The AFL Executive Council yesterday voted to suspend the AFL's East Coast waterfront union for failing to rid the union of criminal elements.

The council voted to recommend the suspension of the International Longshoremen's Assn. to the AFL forthcoming convention. The convention meets in St. Louis starting Sept. 21, and is expected to carry out the council's suggestion.

The ILA was ordered six months ago by the AFL to clean out racketeers and union officials accused of taking gifts and bribes from employers. The union has been sharply criticized for harboring criminals by crime investigators of Congress and the State of New York.

Joseph P. Ryan, 69-year-old lifetime president of the ILA, declined to comment on the AFL council's suspension recommendation. Ryan, himself under indictment charging larceny of ILA funds, has refused to quit "while under fire" and has claimed the ILA is well on the way to cleaning house.

The AFL council, however, said the ILA's clean-up efforts were inadequate. The union had proposed a system of union-run trials of its officials having questionable backgrounds. This apparently failed to satisfy the AFL leadership.

There had been speculation the council might vote the ILA's ouster from AFL membership, rather than suspension. AFL President George Meany and other AFL officials were careful to point out, however, that they considered suspension "the most drastic action possible."

Reds Pour Into Korea

Seoul, (AP) — President Syngman Rhee told an interviewer for the Los Angeles Times that Red Chinese are "streaming into North Korea from Communist Manchuria," and warned again that he might order military action to unify Korea if a peace conference fails to do so in 90 days.

Returning American POWs Vow Vengeance On Fellow Prisoners Who Turned Red

Freedom Village, (AP) — Angry U. S. soldiers came back from North Korea yesterday swearing vengeance on fellow prisoners who turned Communist and informers.

The angry ones wore as a badge of honor the term "reactionary" fastened on them by Red captors who could not break their spirit. Prisoner after prisoner told of being spied upon and turned in to their captors by other Americans who had succumbed to the relentless pressure of Communist propaganda.

Many said they had been whipped, beaten and forced to stand immobile for hours in freezing cold because of tales carried to the Chinese by "progressives," the contemptuous label they fastened on the turncoats.

Soldier receptionists had to grab and hold one American when he saw a fellow repatriate whom he termed a "No. 1 progressive."

"I'll get that S.O.E. when I get home," he vowed.

President Orders New Drive To Cut Federal Spending In Move To Avoid Debt Limit Hike

Denver, (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday ordered a new drive to cut federal spending in an effort to avoid calling a special session of Congress to hike the national debt limit.

The President wrote government department and agency chiefs from his vacation headquarters here that it is "absolutely essential" they take every possible step to reduce spending for the fiscal year which started July 1.

He said they also are expected to make "substantial reductions" in the level of expenditures contemplated for the year beginning next July 1.

Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge has instructed the agencies to submit spending estimates for the new year to him by Sept. 15.

Eisenhower's letter was made public as he conferred at the Lowry Air Force Base Summer White House with Adm. Arthur W. Radford, the incoming chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The admiral will take over as chairman, Saturday, succeeding Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who is retiring.

Radford told newsmen he gave Eisenhower a briefing on the world military situation. He noted that Bradley has been doing that at least once a week, and said the practice will be continued when the President returns to Washington.

An Eisenhower aide described the briefing as routine and added that no emergency had prompted Radford's flying visit.

In reply to a question, the admiral said he and Eisenhower did not discuss Soviet Premier Malenkov's statement that the United States has no monopoly on the dread hydrogen bomb. But Radford said in response to another question that he doesn't regard the Malenkov announcement as a sign of Soviet imagination.

Artist Settles With City For 80 Traffic Tickets

New York, (AP) — The city's campaign against people who ignore traffic tickets yesterday brought distinction of a sort — to a 51-year-old artist.

William Boyman, who runs a necktie painting business, forked over $2,200 in traffic court fines for 80 unanswered tickets—a record in the year-long city crackdown. This was in addition to $862 in earlier fines.

Said Chief Magistrate John M. Murtaght to Boyman: "You've got to understand traffic tickets have to be answered."

'Big Switch' Enters Its Second Week

Panmunjom, Wednesday (AP) — The great exchange of prisoners under the Korean armistice went into its second week today with the arrival of 50 quiet but smiling Americans from Communist captivity.

The Americans, dressed in the familiar faded blue Chinese uniforms, hopped nimbly from the canvas-topped, Russian-built trucks and replied smartly to roll call. But there were no outbursts of joy such as marked some previous arrivals at this gateway to freedom.

One hundred Americans were listed for today's exchange, along with 300 other Allied prisoners. Today's group includes 25 British, 25 Turks and 250 South Koreans, among whom were 50 litter cases. The Allied prisoners were scheduled to come down Freedom Road each hour in groups of 100, but the Communists announced during today's exchange that 25 Americans and 25 British—due at 11 a. m.—would be delayed until 1:30 p. m. for "administrative reasons."

The exchange began promptly at 9 a. m. (8 p. m., EDT, Tuesday).

That also was the time set for tomorrow's exchange, with the Reds promising to return 400 more Allied prisoners, including 75 Americans, 75 British and 250 South Koreans.

A huge medical air evacuation plane took off from Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, meanwhile, with the first American prisoners returning to the United States since the armistice. 17 patients, of whom 14 were litter cases. It was due at Travis Air Force Base northeast of San Francisco at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

Although described as seriously ill, the men appear rested after the 31-hour layover at Tripler Hospital in Honolulu.

While the exchange rolled along, Poling radio charged that the United States-Korean mutual security pact initiated in Seoul Saturday "seriously threatens the Korean armistice and the future political conference."

The propaganda broadcast, heard in Tokyo, asserted that the United States and South Korea "can unleash a war and conduct it together on the pretext that either of the parties is attacked."

Democrats Claim They 'Saved' Ike

Washington, (AP) — The "Democratic Digest" said yesterday Democratic cooperation with President Eisenhower so far has made "all the difference between success and failure for his administration."

A leading article in the September issue of the Democratic National Committee's official publication, second since adoption of a pocket-size magazine format—sums up the actions of the first session of the 83d Congress under the title, "How Democrats Saved Ike From His Own Party."

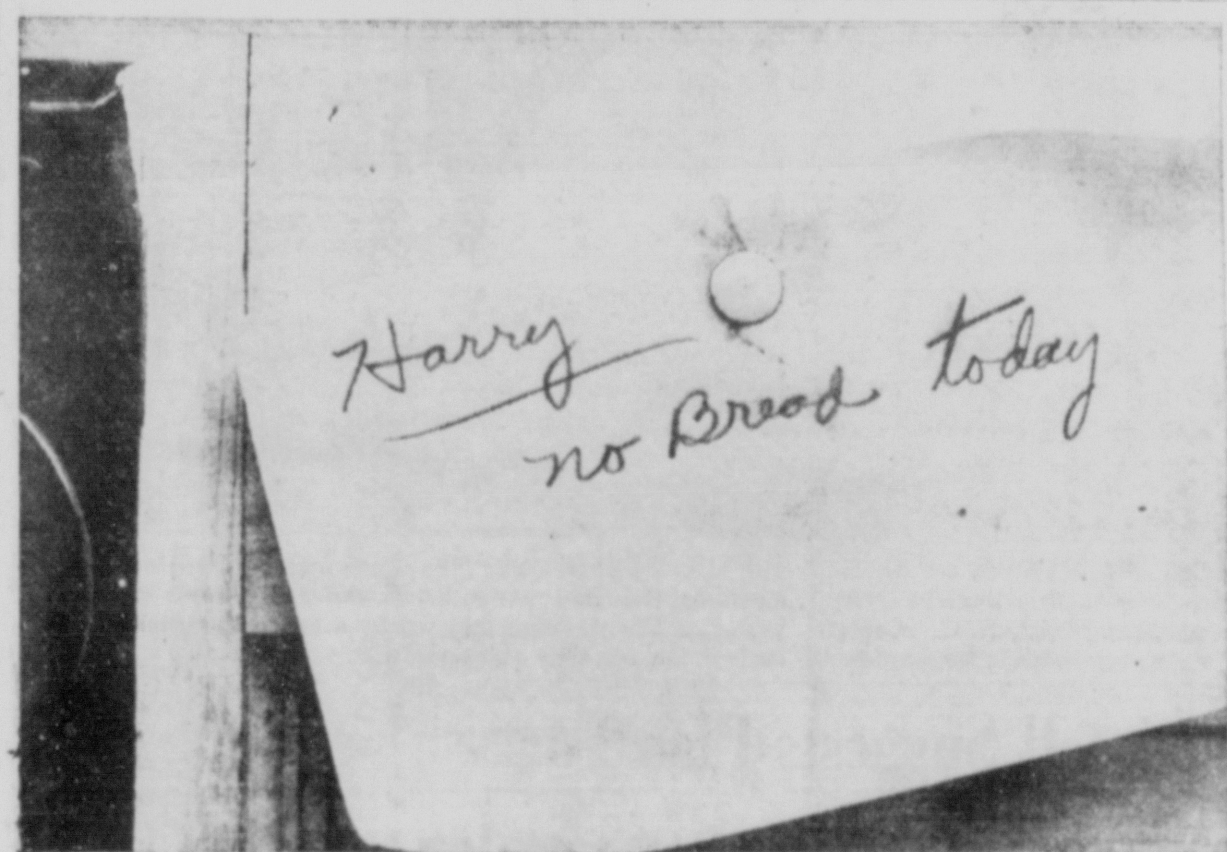

It says the President's "real enemies are within his own party, and his efforts to placate the implacable Republicans have placed him in some unfortunate situations."

The article says the Democrats have set a new record in honoring the tradition of giving a new president "a break" by extending their side of the honeymoon into the eighth month. Signs multiply, it adds, that they are eager to lend further encouragement "to birth of a new era of good feeling."

It claims that Democratic leaders "are profoundly aware that this is a time when America must stop the political guerrilla war which has distracted this country for a decade or more."

Woman To Be 102

Philadelphia (AP) — Mrs. Anna S. Dryfus, believed to be the oldest Delaware County resident, will be 102 Thursday and she'll celebrate the occasion in her usual way: Reading her Bible, taking a drive, doing a little crocheting and eating well.

THIS WAS THE SIGN which greeted the bread man on his arrival yesterday afternoon at the George DeHaven home near Snyder'sville. The DeHaven family is on its way to Montreal to await the arrival of S/Sgt. Charles DeHaven, crew chief of a giant bomber which crashed into the ocean west of Ireland a week ago. He was one of four saved out of the crew of 23. (Daily Record Photo)

DeHavens Leave For Montreal To Be On Hand For Arrival Of Son Who Survived B-36 Crash

The George DeHavens left Snyder'sville yesterday to be on hand when their son, survivor of a bomber crash into the sea last week, docks Thursday at Montreal.

The family group of five plans to be standing on the pier when S/Sgt. Charles M. DeHaven, 24, comes within view aboard the Manchester Pioneer.

In the group, which left in a single car from the DeHaven home a quarter-mile from Snyder'sville about 1:45 p.m. yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. DeHaven, the sergeant's parents; his sister, Mrs. Richard Weaver; and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Dickinson, 28 N. Tenth St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Weaver learned of the docking date just before midnight Monday when she telephoned Travis Air Force Base, California, for information.

The base public relations officer, Maj. Thomas W. Harbort, told her the ship was due in Montreal sometime on the 13th. Present plans are, he said, for S/Sgt. DeHaven to be flown direct from Montreal to Travis field.

The family hopes to see the sergeant before he takes off for California.

The big B-36, a reconnaissance bomber which weighed 180 tons and cost three and a half million dollars, caught fire on a training flight from Travis to England. It went into the sea before dawn Wednesday, just a week ago, about 300 miles south of Ireland and 300 to 500 miles west of Ireland.

The 16-engine bomber carried a crew of 23. Four men survived including the sergeant. The others perished. Survivors and five recovered bodies were taken to England by rescue ships, then transferred to ships bound for North America.

Revenue Department Reclassifies Ice Cream As Food Exempt From State's New Sales Tax

Harrisburg, (AP) — The Revenue Department yesterday struck ice cream from its list of items subject to Pennsylvania's new one per cent sales tax.

The action reclassified ice cream from the category of a confection as it was in the department's temporary regulations and listed it as a tax exempt food product.

Meanwhile, the department compiled nearly two weeks of conferences with representatives of retailers, manufacturers and contractors and began the huge task of preparing a permanent list of items to be taxed when the levy goes into effect Sept. 1.

"Now we are going to work on a 24-hour basis to get the regulations out to the retailers as soon as possible," Otto F. Messner, state revenue secretary, told a newsmen.

Draft Call Unchanged

Washington, (AP) — The Army yesterday issued a draft call for 25,000 men in October.

The October quota brought to 1,538,450 the total number of men drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of selective service in September 1950.

The October call is the same as previously announced for the months of July, August and September.

The Defense Department has emphasized its intention to continue until the Korean situation is stabilized. Thereafter, current schedules call for a reduction of 6000 monthly in the draft until next July.

Ammo Stocks Inadequate For All-Out War

Washington (AP) — Investigating senators reported yesterday that except in Korea, this country's worldwide stocks of ammunition are "inadequate for an all-out war."

But with a note of optimism, they quickly added that the Korean truce which halted shooting there, and a rapid expansion of ammunition production in recent months, should soon end the shortages.

Messner said attorneys from the Revenue and Justice Departments hope to have the permanent regulations completed for release by next Monday. In addition, some 40,000 retailers must be registered within the next three weeks.

Messner said the exemption of ice cream, sherberts and ices from the sales tax probably is only the first in a number of changes in the temporary regulations revealed Monday.

"I have always held that ice cream is a milk product so valuable as a nutritious food," Messner said. "However, such allied products as ice cream sodas probably will be subject to the tax."

Messner explained that the tentative regulations were based upon practices in other states. That list will now be revised on the basis of testimony received at the retailer conferences.

"We had to have some basis to start working out our tax details," Messner said. "Now we are going to make the adjustments as we feel would best apply to Pennsylvania."

The sales tax law exempts sales under 12 cents and such broad categories as food products, restaurant meals and clothing used to protect a person against nakedness or cold. However, it leaves many borderline cases that must be decided one way or another before regulations go out to retailers.

Such items as groceries, baked goods and meat are spelled out as exempt under the law. The temporary regulations have held that candy, animal food, soda pop, chewing gum and similar items are taxable.

While clothing is exempt Messner said such other articles as belts, handkerchiefs, neckties, wallets and suspenders probably would be taxed.

The sales tax law also specifically excludes liquor, beer, cigarettes, gasoline, newspapers, magazines, medicine or prescription, eyeglasses, false teeth, religious articles and electric and water bills.

However, Messner said no definite decision has been reached on coal, natural and artificial gas and fuel oil used for home consumption. Those fuels were not mentioned in the law itself but were listed as taxable under the temporary regulations.

Communists Gave Their Best In Korea, But Were Defeated

by Chung-Shu Kwei

(A leading Chinese author, journalist and lawyer. Some of his books: "Plain Speaking on Japan" (1952) and "Key to Chinese Character" (1950). Editor-in-chief, Hongkong Standard Chinese legal counsel for Bank of China, Bank of America, Trust Co. New Research Associate at Yale University. Mr. Kwei predicted the Korean war in April, 1950, and because he saw recent Korean events with Eastern rather than Western eyes, this is an important piece.)

Should Korea be unified by force if she cannot be unified by peaceful means after the truce?

An answer to this question may be sought in the words uttered in September, 1950, by the late Mr. Ernest Bevin, then Secretary for Foreign Affairs in Britain's Labor government:

"It is apparent now that Korea has to be unified in only one way—by force. The North Korean Communists forced this conclusion when they took up the sword, intending to impose a lightning 'unification' by aggression. They must now abide by the decision they have made."

And in support of this view, Mr. Bevin, when interviewed on September 29, 1950, aboard the Queen Mary, declared:

"If you proceed to deal with Korea as Korea and you want a united and free Korea, then the 38th Parallel almost automatically disappears . . . I think you should speak of Koreans as Koreans and not as North Koreans and South Koreans."

I am quoting Mr. Bevin not because I favor unification of Korea by force, but because there is a strong tendency in London to forget what a high responsible spokesman of Britain's own Labor government did specifically tell the free world in the early days of the Korean war.

A more important point, however, may be considered: the general feeling that by concluding the truce in Korea the free world

Solon Demands U. S. Hold Back On Commies

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department said yesterday the Communists now claim that 1,022 Americans captured in Korea died in Red prison camps before the signing of the truce.

The department said the Communists also reported that 147 U. S. servicemen escaped from POW camps.

Pentagon officials said, however, that not one of the men reported to have escaped has ever returned to Allied lines and they are still listed as missing in action.

Meanwhile, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) demanded that the United States hold back half of the Communist POWs in Korea "until we get an accounting from the Reds on all American prisoners they hold."

McClellan said his proposal "might breach the truce agreement," but he told newsmen he believes drastic action is necessary.

"I think most of our people are greatly disturbed by reports from some of the Americans freed by the Reds in Korea that many fellow prisoners are being held," McClellan said.

Secretary of State Dulles said Monday the United States will demand the release of all Communist-held prisoners and will adopt "reciprocal measures" if the Reds fail to comply.

The Pentagon's announcement gave the first breakdown on number of Americans reported by the Communists to have died in Red prison camps.

Red China's Peiping radio reported last night that 1,050 non-Korean prisoners had died in captivity, but gave no indication that all but 28 of those were Americans.

The Pentagon's statement also contained the first official U.S. disclosure that in December, 1951, the Reds submitted a list of 575 Americans who were alleged to have died in captivity.

The Defense Department said the earlier list was not published at the time and families of the men listed as dead by the Reds were not informed because the list contained "serious discrepancies, omissions, incomplete and erroneous reports."

The Pentagon said all of the Communist lists are "unreliable," but said notifications based on the Red reports will start to next-of-kin early tomorrow morning.

The Communist report that 1,022 Americans died in captivity and their previously announced agreement to release 3,313 under the armistice agreement still leaves some 7,000 Americans unaccounted for in the Korean War. About 11,800 are carried on U.S. records as missing or captured.

Rain Boosts Corn Crop

Washington (AP) — Rains that brought relief to the drought-plagued Southwest plus generally favorable growing conditions elsewhere boosted the nation's crop production prospects during July in a level exceeded only in 1948.

This was one highlight of a crop report issued by the Agriculture Department yesterday.

Another feature was an indication that corn—a raw material for meat, poultry and dairy products—may escape the rigid federal marketing controls which face wheat and cotton next year.

The corn crop was forecast at 3,330,418,000 bushels, or around 70 million short of the level that probably would require Secretary of Agriculture Benson to invoke marketing quotas on the 1951 crop to prevent accumulation of burdensome surpluses.

Husband Kills Complaining Wife

Greenville, France, (AP)—Cattelin Teller told police yesterday he murdered his wife with a hammer.

One of the reasons: She enraged him with complaints he had not told her of France's railroad strike. She had wanted to make a trip to Paris. After the murder, Teller picked up the phone to call police. The operator didn't answer. She was out on strike.

Bangor Area Highway To Be Improved

Bangor—An agreement to improve the present Bangor-East Bangor highway or open a new artery to East Bangor borough was voiced by State Highway officials here yesterday. Victor Saveri, former East Bangor councilman and promoter of the project, disclosed last night.

Saveri told The Daily Record the highway heads admitted the present road is dangerous to vehicular traffic. Two alternatives were suggested: Providing for a partial fill-in of the old abandoned Washington State Quarry, which is located south of the road only a few feet from the roadway itself, or open a new channel east on Messinger St. here to connect with the East Bangor borough line.

Saveri said he started the project in 1946 and appealed annually to the State Highway Department to correct the hazardous condition. The road formerly was the Route

Youth Faces Charge After Motor Crash

Charges will be filed against Elias Getz, 18, of 1155 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, as the result of an accident Monday night. Police Chief James F. McConnell said yesterday.

Nature of the charges was not disclosed. Police said the case is "still under investigation."

Police said Getz was the driver of a sedan which plunged off a low embankment on the Stroud Township side of Phillips St., at 11:30 p. m., and landed upside down. The car skidded on Phillips St., while traveling west and went end-over-end over the bank. Getz and two companions, Steven Kautz, 15, of 1163 W. Driscoll Suggests Plan For Tapping Delaware River Water

Trenton, N. J., (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll said yesterday he has a new plan that may overcome Pennsylvania objections to tapping the Delaware River for drinking water.

Driscoll told a news conference he was "rather hopeful" the plan would be accepted by the legislatures of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Driscoll said he had proposed several amendments to statutes already approved by New York, New Jersey and Delaware. The governor said he planned to discuss the amendments with William A. Schnader of Philadelphia.

Schnader, former attorney general for Pennsylvania, is counsel to a special committee which recently recommended against participation by Pennsylvania in an interstate commission.

Driscoll said he believed the major objections raised by the committee was the cost of the project and a feeling that water on the Delaware River Valley should not be expended in the Hudson River Valley.

"Among the proposals that have made it difficult to secure agreement is that each state should have a veto power to protect its own rights," Driscoll said.

The governor said he recommended abandonment of the veto power and the substitution of the U. S. Supreme Court as a referee in case of differences between the states.

Public Health Nursing Visitations In July Set New Record

323 Cases In Month Reported

A decided increase in visitations in July set a three-year record for Monroe County Organization Public Health Nursing, Inc., it was disclosed last night.

Peter Mendler, vice president of the agency, a participating member of the Community Chest, reported the July case-load at 323 and announced nurses have traveled an average of 1,200 miles each month since they were formed in July, 1950.

The past three months calls have surpassed all previous marks and all were to homes of Monroe County year-long residents, it was stated. Mendler added "the work of these nurses is relieving the crowded condition at the General Hospital by the treating of prolonged chronic illness, which would crowd the hospital where space is so badly needed for emergencies."

In the first year of organization, nurses averaged 150 cases a month, it was noted. The second year the load increased by at least 50 each month. In the past three months the visitations read like this: May 264, June, 285 and July, 323.

Free cases also are on the increase, the report shows. In May 35 visits were made without charge, in June there were 60 and last month, 91.

Most nursing visits are made in East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg and Mount Pocono boroughs, and Barre, Colmaugh, Paradise, Stroud, Middle Smithfield, Smithfield, Chestnut Hill, Hamilton and Eldred Townships, Mendler said.

One staff member is employed teaching a class of new mothers child care at the hospital each week. Infant care is continued in the home following discharge of mother and child, provided this service is requested, it was reported.

Bulk of the cases reported were bedside care for the aged and others who are chronically ill, the statement added. Among the cases treated were heart conditions, cancer, fractures, diabetes, arthritis and circulatory diseases.

Nurses have given attention in the form of hypodermics, special irrigations, surgical dressings, bedside care, demonstrations, medical and remedial care and early case findings.

Mrs. Virginia DePuy is executive director of the nursing group. She is assisted by Mrs. Margaret Loney, a full-time nurse; Mrs. Marion Oyer, on part-time duty and Mrs. Adelaide Murray, substitute.

Officers of the organization are William H. Clark, president; Mendler, vice president; Mrs. Roger Dunning, secretary; J. Joseph McCuskey, treasurer; Paul J. Delahar, past president and Mrs. Thomas A. Bennett Jr., chairman of the nursing committee.

Durkin Replies To Successor

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Labor Durkin hit back yesterday at a charge by his stand-in as president of the AFL Plumbers Union that the Eisenhower administration record so far reflects a "pattern of plunder."

Durkin called a news conference to reply to a statement by Acting President Peter T. Schoemann published in the July issue of the Plumbers Journal.

The labor secretary, on "leave as head of the union, said Schoemann had "every right" to express his personal views, but as a member of the administration Durkin said he had the duty of "setting the record straight."

"None of the charges contained in the Schoemann statement are well founded," Durkin declared. He expressed belief that Schoemann was speaking only for himself.

Schoemann said the "pattern of plunder" was designed to wipe out labor's "hard won" gains. He said the administration had under attack such things as the minimum wage law, unemployment compensation, public power development, public housing and social security.

Durkin cited an Eisenhower recommendation that social security be broadened to cover another 10 million people. He also stressed that "not a single piece of legislation was enacted" to weaken the minimum wage law.

He declared that the President has "steadfastly adhered" to his campaign promise to press for amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor law.

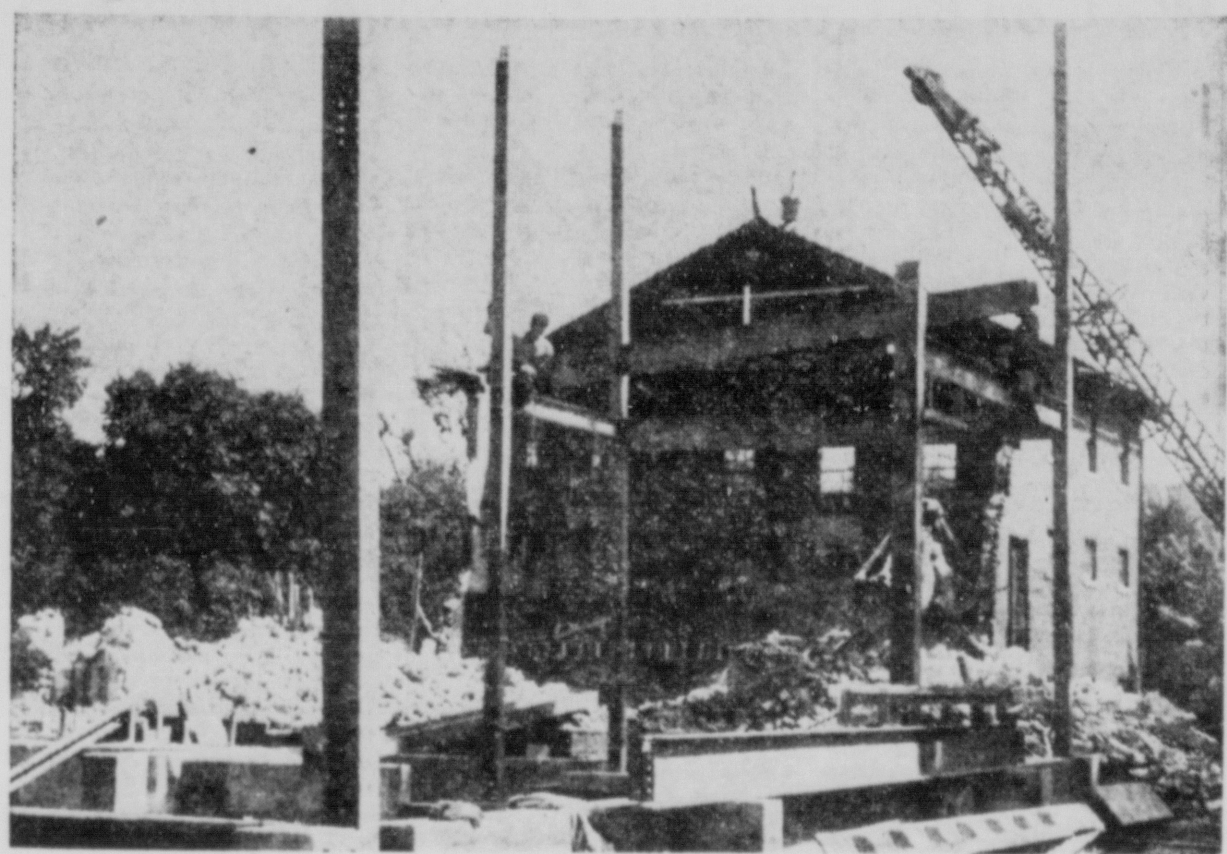

He said "thoughtful" consideration is being given to changes which would bring "fairness and balance" to the act.

Satisfactory Progress Being Made On New YMCA Building, Board Of Directors Advised

Satisfactory progress is being made in the construction of the new Monroe County YMCA building, Dr. J. F. Noonan, chairman of the Building Committee, reported at the meeting of the Board of Directors at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Noonan said the steel to be utilized in the new structure had been delivered and that the contractors were cooperating nicely and everything was moving according to schedule.

The next few weeks will find the new building taking form, Dr. Noonan said.

The board approved certificates submitted as to payments due Paul Edinger, general contractor; H. L. Cleveland plumbing, and H. C. Archibald Co., heating and ventilating.

John R. Wilson, general secretary, reported that George Metropoulos, physical director at the Y the past two years, will be vacating his position Sept. 1.

Wilson paid tribute to the young man for his willingness and eagerness to work. A resolution to that effect was adopted by the board.

Secretary Wilson brought up the need of employing a trained youth director of Y work in the county. The fact a branch is being formed in Barre Township made such a step necessary, Wilson said. He pointed out that the director could head the Barre branch as well as looking after the work in the Stroudsburgs.

The board referred the matter of the youth director to the Program and Budget Committee, Thomas Kistler, chairman, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, Mountainhome, the Barre representative, was added to the committee membership.

During the interim while building operations are in progress, a part-time physical director was recommended by Wilson.

Negotiations are now under way for use of the Armory in East Stroudsburg for Y work, also the use of the gymnasiums of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools Saturdays.

Mr. Wilson informed the board he had seen architect sketches for the revamping of the building that will house the new Barre YMCA branch. Included are living quarters for the secretary.

The board went on record to give all possible aid in the Monroe County Community Chest campaign during the Fall.

The Y Day Camp which came to a conclusion July 24 with the trip to Hershey was pronounced successful by Mr. Wilson, who reported a balance of $38.93 in the fund.

The general secretary informed the board that a list of contributors who made pledges in the recent "Finish the Job" building campaign but had neglected to make payments thus far was being compiled and reminders will be sent them.

Earl Groner, chairman of the Construction and By-laws committee, was reported working on the same.

The next meeting of the directors will be held the Tuesday, Sept. 15, instead of the usual second Tuesday of the month.

J. Albert Groner, vice president, presided over the meeting in place of D. W. Frankfield, president, who is away. Other directors present were: Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. W. R. Toewe, William Wyckoff, Merle C. Ostrom, Thomas Kistler, C. A. Keiper, A. F. Everett, Jesse Flory, A. J. Zabrickie, Ted Hoffman, Rev. F. H. Blatt, Dr. J. F. Noonan and General Secretary Wilson.

Chest Board Sets Budget For Agency

Board of Directors of Monroe County Community Chest has set up a $3,000 budget for Child Health Committee work in the county, and fixed October 5 as the date for the Chest campaign kick-off dinner.

The board considered the area of Child Health and came to the decision that a better coordination of the services which carry out the child health program in the county is a vital need before the question of administration can be considered.

The action taken by the board approved the recommendation of the Social Planning Committee, and provided that the president of the Chest appoint a committee to meet with the nursing group. They include: School, state clinic and public health nursing.

This meeting is designed to determine the type of program needed.

Martin S. Baldwin, campaign chairman, told directors that plans and organization are in progress. Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr., Mrs. R. Frederick Jones and Jesse R. S. Flory are in charge of the kick-off dinner.

Directors present were J. Albert Groner, president; John Watt, Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Flory, Walter S. Peeney, J. L. Cohen, Horace Walters, Nelson Westbrook, William Malleson Jr., Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Leo Achterman and Ethel D. West, executive secretary.

Investigators Hold Witness

Montreal, (AP) — Canadian police said yesterday they were holding a 37-year-old prospector as a material witness in the 2-month-old mystery of the murdered hunters.

He is Wilbert Coffin who testified at an inquest July 27 that he met the three hunters from Hollidaysburg, Pa., deep in the Gaspé Peninsula wilderness on June 10.

The bodies of the three slain men—Eugene Lindsey, 45, his son Richard, 17, and Fred Claar, 20—were found scattered in the bush in mid-July. The flesh had been stripped from the bones by marauding bears.

Coffin is the last person known to have seen them alive. Police say he is being held in Quebec City jail as a result of evidence uncovered in Montreal.

They said that a woman in Montreal told them where a revolver could be found and took them to the home of a Montreal man who had purchased the weapon. She also told the police where they could locate a hunting knife that had allegedly belonged to the slain hunters.

The inquest decided that Lindsey and Claar "were murdered by gunshot wounds by persons or persons unknown" but said the elder Lindsey's body was so mangled they could not determine the cause of death.

Solicitor General Antoine Rivard said in Quebec that the inquest would be reopened next week.

New Car Deliveries

New York (AP) — Deliveries of new domestic freight cars in July totaled 6,370 compared with 6,463 in June and 5,402 in July 1952, the American Railway Car Institute and the Association of American Railroads announced yesterday.

Fractured Neck Suffered By Workman In 30-Foot Fall From New Water Gap Bridge

Delaware Water Gap—A steel worker's neck was broken when he fell 30 feet from the new bridge to the ground here yesterday afternoon. He was Ralph William Weikert, 26, Williamsport, who was on the job with his father and brother-in-law, according to hospital authorities.

Dr. Claus Jordan said Weikert's neck was both broken and dislocated, and the man was suffering from shock. Dr. Jordan said that while he didn't regard Weikert as critically injured, the man was "in very serious" condition.

The physician said the bridge worker was in traction at the hospital and that a constant watch was being maintained for any sign of paralysis.

Weikert was up on some steel construction on the Kittatinny Beach, N. J., side of the new bridge.

When he fell, he struck the ground then rolled downhill to the edge of the river, hospital authorities were told, but didn't fall in.

Fellow workers summoned an ambulance and the man was taken to the General Hospital.

Penn's Woods Pay

True to its historic origin as a realm of virgin forests, Pennsylvania today devotes more than half of its total land area, well over 15,000,000 acres, to the preservation, propagation and development of trees.

There are over three million acres of farm "woodlots." Most of the remainder is in state and national forests.

The Delaware Forestry District, consisting of Pike, Monroe and upper Northampton, has an astonishing 70 per cent of its 1,500 square miles in timber land.

Monroe has 307,869 acres of timber representing 78 per cent of its area. Pike's timberland acreage is 517,154, or 89 per cent of its area, and that portion of Northampton which is in the Delaware District has 52,275 acres of timber or 25 per cent of its area.

Total timber land acreage in the district is 677,298 acres.

It is worthy of note that one of the major factors in "keeping the Poconos green" has been Pocono Forestry Association, first forest fire fighting organization in Pennsylvania—even before such a department was created by the state.

The forests, in addition to providing present and potential wealth in timber, afford cover for wildlife of inestimable value to man and harbor great reserves of water.

The current report of the State Game Commission on timber-cutting in the public preserves is accordingly of more than passing interest.

Over a period of 16 years, starting in 1936, the commission sold from the forests saw timber, pulp wood, chemical wood, and trees for more common purposes, bringing a revenue to the state of $690,000.

It was noted that all of the funds so received was used for the benefit of wildlife.

The peak of cutting in the state forests was in the latter part of World War II when saw timber and other wood products were in great demand.

Controlled cutting will continue. The removal of a portion of large trees in any tract, it is pointed out, increases the acorns, beechnuts and other fruits that will develop on the remaining trees. At the same time, the cuttings enable sunlight to reach the forest floor and encourage beneficial sprouts and berry-producing shrubs and vines to flourish. Selective cuttings and restrictions on each sale of timber improve both wildlife and forest conditions. Such management does assure, as naturalists point out, that one natural resource shall not be squandered to promote another and that with nature protected and assisted, proper balance is maintained in our public preserves.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

Now They've Got To Bend

The RFC has been killed by the Eisenhower and replaced by a Small Business Loan Bureau. But it will take time for Washington to get used to fellows who can be argued into borrowing $500,000 from five or ten million dollars. And be patient enough to wait more than 15 or 20 minutes for it. The loans from now on will have a ceiling of $100,000 for any one concern. This announcement has shocked scores of big operators who haven't been asked to think in sums as low as that in the last quarter of a century. The blow has hospitalized some big wheels who can't remember when they would loan so low as to borrow less than a million.

Some of these boys not only considered $1,000,000 pay for the RFC course, but stuck out for having the money dished out to them with magic. They filled out the forms at cocktail parties and before that the coffee be given them during a dance. He has done away with magic during negotiations and ruled out the custom of calling for the money in a fleet of luxury limousines with a motorcycle escort provided by the All-Baba Chapter of the Government. "If You Don't Know What You Want Ask For It. I'll Guide." This can throw hundreds of mini-tappers out of employment. From now on, it is a man with a big idea has everything but the plant, the orders and the money to make dreams come true he will have to convince somebody other than the politicians that he is entitled to a key to the treasury.

The President believes it is high time the small businessman get a little help. By small business is meant a business that can be explained without colored slides, klieg lights, 3-D sound effects and a staff of more than two lawyers. It means a man can now get help EVEN IF HE DOESN'T WANT TOO MUCH. And evidence that he will pay it back will no longer be accepted as sufficient grounds for immediate rejection. The whole office setup will be changed, we understand. The gold-plated street approaches have been closed, the peach fuzz removed from all loan forms and the goose feathers extracted from cushions on the deluxe armchairs used by applicants while waiting for the dough.

We are now facing an era in which a man who wants a lot of money will have to bend over to pick it up. It is pretty sudden. We doubt whether Americans are up to the test.

HERE'S HOPING THE GAS HOLDS OUT!

Robert S. Allen Reports

UN Commanders Ordered To Release Criminal Red POW's

Washington — UN commanders have been directed to release 128 Chinese and Soviet prisoners, who are being held for trial for having committed a long list of atrocities.

The extraordinary order was issued at the instance of the State Department.

General Mark Clark and General Matthew Ridgway, former Far Eastern commander who has been Army Chief of Staff on Saturday, have vehemently protested the repatriation of the accused war criminals. But they were overruled by the State Department on the ground there is no alternative under the terms of the armistice.

The agreement requires that all PW must be returned except those who expressly refuse to be exchanged. The State Department contends this makes it mandatory to free the criminally-charged Reds.

A great deal of information and supporting evidence has been collected against these prisoners, and most of them North Koreans. In fact, many of these cases are documented and ready for trial. But the Pentagon has not been permitted to authorize the prosecutions.

Prior to the truce, the Joint Chiefs were told such trials would endanger both the cease-fire negotiations and the lives of UN prisoners in Communist hands. It was argued the Reds would be certain to retaliate against the latter by accusing them of trumped-up war crimes. Since the armistice, the State Department has barred action by insisting that enemy PW, regardless of charges against them, cannot be held against their will.

The Department takes the position that the problem of dealing with war criminals will have to be determined by the political conference that follows the truce.

Barbarous Record—Since the first days of the Korean War, when reports of atrocities began pouring in, Pentagon authorities skirt lengths are going back to the knees. He probably realizes that military legs are no longer regarded as a novelty, except by ship photographers.

President Eisenhower will take a three-weeks vacation in Colorado. He has found life in the White House so much like a movie "swindler" that he can use a little extra training out there where men are men and sheriffs are movie extras.

A field agent of the Police Bureau, the N. Y. Division of Safety, says there is an unwritten law among highway police to ignore speeders unless they do ten miles per hour faster than the law allows.

And folks continue to express wonder that the accident rate rises.

Note: The U.S. still exercises control over more than 750 war-crimes prisoners in Japanese jails. This authority is provided in the Japanese peace treaty, that was drafted by Secretary Dulles when he was a special official of the State Department in the Truman Administration. Under the terms of Dulles' pact, a U.S. Parole Board meets weekly in Washington to consider release applications from the Japanese prisoners. The three-member Board is made up of State, Defense, and Justice Department officials.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Unless Currency Has Value, Stability We Can Be Caught In Economic Squeeze

Money is an unpleasant subject for conversation, as every husband knows. In these days of depreciated currency, it is particularly hard to explain to a wife or to children that if prices are high, it is impossible to buy as much for the same amount of money as could be done when the dollar was worth more. Simple truths sometimes are most difficult to deal with because they run counter to pressing desires.

It has become popular among certain of our citizens to make a distinction between money and human values, they forgetting all the time that nearly all human benefits have to be supported by money. For instance, it is incorrect to say that every citizen should have access to hospitalization, but hospitals must have the money to operate, whether that money comes from Federal, state or municipal funds, that is, from the taxpayer, or from private charity. When the currency is depreciated, it costs more to operate these institutions.

Senator Kerr of Oklahoma has his own idea on the subject. I recently read a broadcast he made on "Facts Forum" in response to the question, "Are the fiscal policies of the Eisenhower Administration good for our country?"

Senator Kerr replied that the fiscal policies of the Eisenhower Administration are bad because they are designed to restore the value of the dollar. He puts it this way:

"The Republicans have always put the premium on the value of labor. The Democrats have always put the premium on the value of the products of the soil, on the value of the products of the mines. . . . The only way you can make the value of the dollar greater is to make the value of these other things less."

The Senator misses the point. In this connection, I should like to cite an experience that I had with money. Back in August, 1917, I was in Petrograd, and when I saw that the value of the ruble was going down, I hedged against inflation. I amassed a quantity of paper rubles, the nominal value of which was $1,500,000, the actual value, after the Bolshevik Revolution, was anything you could get—perhaps $5,000 or $6,000. Who knows? Exchange was forbidden. When I reached Harbin in March, 1918, and needed some cash to send a cable to my parents in New York, realizing that I was alive, my vast accumulation of rubles was worth $11. After I sent the cable, I was flat broke.

When the currency of a country depreciates, the wages of labor, the return to the farmer for his produce, the payment to the storekeeper for his wares, become fictitious. Men live by barter. In those days, I owned one Hershey chocolate bar, which cost one nickel. I shaved on that alone with a safety razor and no one in this country, who has not lived through such a period, can imagine what value a thin slice of chocolate can have when money has lost its value. American soldiers in Europe during World War II had the same type of experience with cigarettes.

It is of the utmost importance to keep currency stabilized. Senator Kerr believes that last year the American dollar was reasonably stabilized. Its value then, in purchasing power, was 53 cents.

The ordinary man on the street knows as much about his own money as the economists. The housewife knows the difference between the same hamburger at 96 cents, 60 cents, or 25 cents a pound. To her, the 96 cents hamburger means that she cannot buy something else that she needs or maybe she will only buy one pound instead of two. Out-of-pocket economics is very realistic to the person who has to buy.

Whether the Eisenhower Administration can succeed in increasing the value of the dollar is to be seen, but everybody would be better off if the dollar bought more. The farmer does not only sell wheat and eggs, etc., he also buys canned goods, machinery, milk, and sends his son to college. He is not only a seller, but a buyer. His medium of exchange has to go both ways.

Unless his currency has value and stability, he can be caught in an economic squeeze. The same is true of labor, of the retail storekeeper, of the miner, of everybody.

even neckties and bracelets the press agent can think of.

No, our fairytale characters of today are not dwellers in fairytale land at all. They are just plain, ordinary humans dressed up in gorgeous costumes, enacting plays written by well-paid writers, none of whom can take even a child into the realm of dreams.

And yet how we need those fairy tales to bring beauty into our everyday, humdrum lives, which we must face to earn our daily bread.

I think, if I were a delivery boy delivering a dozen eggs or a basket of groceries to a prosaic housewife dressed in calico or gingham, I should dream that I was bringing her a priceless gift from overseas; that my delivery truck was drawn by fiery steeds; that the hausfrau herself was a beautiful queen dressed in the afore-mentioned gossamer gown of finest weave!

The world has become altogether too factual. The only things in which we believe are the things that we can see, touch, taste.

Much of our imagination is devoted to material improvements. Many of the things of which we dreamed in those fairy tale days have been replaced by 20th century facts and realities.

And few things are so disenchanted as to wake up from a dream into prosaic reality.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A British visitor to Manhattan reports Eleanor Early was whisked to the top of the Empire State Building, where all the sights within a radius of thirty miles were carefully pointed out.

"Well, did you ever see a sight like this before?" enthused his guide. The Britisher expressed a yawn and replied, "It does give an impression of height, eh, what?"

When the world of radio was agog with rumors that Tallulah Bankhead was going to be replaced by a blonde siren who had taken Hollywood by storm, Miss Bankhead scoffed, "The only stage experience that dame ever had was when her leg was in a cast."

Dr. Frederik J. Stare, Harvard School of Health research scientist, has just become the patron saint of all midnight snackers.

The good doctor has up and announced that eating between meals makes it easier for the hopelessly hungry to keep their waist line down! If this be treason, make the most of it—but kindly hand us the boloney and don't be so remiss with the swind!

The Harvard savant says that by indulging in occasional bites between meals we can drive that needle on the bathroom scale from left to right.

Dr. Stare says that by nibbling between meals a person loses his appetite for dessert and, as result, takes fewer calories aboard. He also says that eating a hearty breakfast are more apt to keep slim. Ah, there sure is good news tonight!

New York Confidential

—by Lee Mortimer

The Big Town: TV news item reads: "Nick Bjorn, famed ballroom dancer and cafe-society playboy, shutters his swank cafe in the Bahamas to return to New York for a video contract."

The Loudown: I don't believe it. I think Nick came back to listen to torch songs. And this is why:

My tale begins in 1938 when lovely Jean Farries and handsome Nick Bjorn teamed up as ballroom hoeders. Maybe it was the romantic music they danced to, maybe it was the propinquity, maybe it was only the bubbles in the wine they were drinking one night after their show; anyway Nick turned suddenly to his lovely blonde partner and said:

"Honey, I love you. Let's get married."

They did!

Success crowned their professional efforts. They quickly became one of the best of the smooth-tempered teams and played in the swankiest hotels here, in London and on the Continent where dukes, royal and non-royal, earls, viscounts, barons and plain dime-a-dozen barons cheered them, especially her. Then they did a command performance at Buckingham Palace for their Majesties.

In spite of the pomp and circumstance, all was not well with the Bjorns. In 1941 they sold their professional and matrimonial partnerships and danced their different ways, he to a two-step and she to a dirge.

Nick went into the Army as an aviation cadet. Jean joined the WACS as an enlisted man—female. Neither knew the other was in the service.

Nick won his wings and bars. Jean went through OCS and became a WAC lieutenant.

He was stationed at Mitchell Field, L. I., she at an air force base in Ohio. That's when the long arm of coincidence got to work. She played into Mitchell Field. The two lieutenants mechanically saluted each other. Then they took a double take.

That night they went to El Morocco for a snifter. They chose the same bar stools they always chose when they went there five years earlier.

Maybe it was the same romantic tunes Chauncey Grey's hand played. Maybe it was just sitting side by side. Maybe it was the bubbles in the wine—anyway Nick suddenly turned to Jean and said: "Honey, I love you. Let's get married."

Jean nodded. They agreed to wait until after the war. But the hostilities seemed to drag on forever. They both forgot their new vows. Instead, Jean married a doctor in the West and Nick married pretty Pat Coogan, a socially registered deb. Coogan's Bluff, where the Giants play, was named after her family.

Her marriage lasted only a year. Pat sued for an annulment on the grounds Nick refused to have babies. After all, that's why she married him, she said. But the tongue-waggers insisted they still loved each other and family influences had aided the split.

Nick and Pat went their separate ways, dining and dancing with others, occasionally seeing each other in fashionable spots and coldly nodding and bowing. Then Nick's father died. In settling the estate it was found Nick might have to move to Nassau, in the Bahamas, to live there for years—or maybe permanent.

This grieved Nick's playboy pals here. And it grieved the gals. His friends started a series of going-away parties which stretched out indefinitely as the trip was postponed again and again.

Most of the parties were at El Morocco. One night, Nick and a gang of his gay blades were at a large table. At an adjoining table, with another group, sat Pat Coogan. He leaned over to bid her goodnight. The farewell dragged on into a prolonged yawn. I don't know what they found to talk about.

Then both realized that by coincidence they were sitting exactly where they sat when he first proposed to her. And as if by pre-arrangement, Chauncey Grey began to play the same plaintive waltz he had played on that historic occasion. It was, by the way, a different tune than the one played the night Nick proposed to Jean.

Having gone through this before, Nick knew all the lines. He murmured, "Honey, I love you. Will you marry me again?" The answer was obvious. She said she would.

They kept the re-engagement secret. Nick was to go to the Bahamas and straighten out his affairs. Then he would send for Pat.

But that was six long years ago. The round of farewell parties finally came to a close. The last aspirin cured the last hangover. Nick went to Nassau and wound up his dad's estate and ended with enough to keep him in the running with the snootier citizens.

Pat Coogan got married again. But not to Nick Bjorn! She wed Lou Suritz, the liquor mogul, and is very happy.

I wonder just what Nick will do the first time he hears Chauncey Grey play the same old torch song!

The schedule for the next three months was read to the members. It includes a bowling party, sun rise meeting, square dance, candle light meeting, skating parties and others.

Chair Altemose led the topic "Your Luther League." Rev. Bergstresser and the vice president, Sam Budge, took part.

Rev. Harold Uner of the Brick Church in Saylorsburg gave a talk to the group called "Grace of God."

The next business meeting will be held Wednesday, August 19. This will be a joint meeting with the Stroudsburg Luther League. It will be held at the Hamilton Church at 7:30. The two leagues will participate in a debate. Mr. Bergstresser will serve as the moderator.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

All right! So I play croquet on the golf course. It is that any reason why the family should react to the simple announcement that I was invited to play on guest day with the Shawnee Women Golfers with the same shock and ill-concealed amusement as if I'd said that I were going to sing with the Metropolitan Opera.

Granted that I'm well qualified to do one as the other, I tried to explain that I hadn't been invited because I played good golf but because she knew I'd enjoy the company. Which I did.

I also pointed out the aesthetic side of golf. The blue sky and green, green grass and the bright colors of the golf outfits on the gently rolling greensward with a backdrop of mountains.

And the variety of activity — mountain climbing when you overshoot the green and land on the steep river bank; wading through the seashore sand in the sand traps; and certainly the river itself, particularly on 16, where swimming and wading could retrieve many a golf ball.

But they insisted that in addition to all that you should also be able to play a decent game of golf. Purely a masculine point of view, I maintain. As a matter of fact what our household needs is a little feminine companionship after this all-male summer.

And speaking of feminine companionship, Nancy is due home from Chicago in three more days. If I didn't know better, I'd think she took a course in psychology at the University. Her courses were over July 31, and since then I haven't the faintest idea what she's been up to.

It's something that occupies all her time for these two weeks, that she starts doing at 8 o'clock every weekday morning. That she likes to do and that we're proud of her for doing, and that it's to be a big surprise.

It sure will. If I don't die of impatience before Saturday night I'll die of curiosity.

General Hospital Auxiliary Reports Successful Projects

The General Hospital Auxiliary of Monroe County reported successful projects all down the line at their meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Summer home of Mrs. Henry Tucker along the Delaware.

Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, president, presided at the meeting. She gave a report of successful operation of the hospital shop at the hospital and stressed again the need for volunteers.

The Ninth Annual Antique Show, held last week at the East Stroudsburg Armory, under the auspices of the auxiliary, was also a huge success, she reported. Although no final results could be reported at this time, she said that she thought it would exceed even last year's successful show. The dealers who exhibited were all well pleased, too, she reported.

She thanked the members of the auxiliary and the public for their support and aid in making it a success.

Mrs. George Hauser, chairman of the cafeteria committee, which served meals all during the show, reported that that too had been most successful. Women responsible for the light lunches and refreshments during the four days of the show were as follows:

Tuesday: Mrs. Nathan Meyer, Mrs. William Gorman, Mrs. Gady Moore and Mrs. Theodore Moore; Wednesday: Mrs. F. Lynn Lantz, Mrs. Russell Cramer, Mrs. Minnie Lesone, Mrs. Fred W. Davis, and Mrs. Milo Singer; Thursday: Mrs. George Hauser, Mrs. William Gorman, Mrs. John Dunkelberger, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Friday: Mrs. George Marsh, Mrs. Bob Bush, Mrs. Harold Repner, Mrs. Russell Cramer and Miss Bess Gardner.

Mrs. Hauser also had high praise for the young girls who assisted as waitresses. Betty Stoll served all four days; her sister, Patty Stoll, and Nancy Straussner, each served two days. Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, chairman of the registration committee, was ill and unable to attend the meeting. However, she served all four days of the show, and was assisted by the following members:

Tuesday: Mrs. Henry Heile, Mrs. Edward Worthington, Mrs. Jane Henry, Miss Bess Gardner, Mrs. H. E. Kester, Mrs. William Pearce, Mrs. W. Adolph Baker and Mrs. George Marsh; Wednesday: Mrs. David Shiller, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Miss Adelaide Schiele, Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, Mrs. H. O. Kester, Mrs. William Pearce, Mrs. Harry Albert and Mrs. John Kingsley; Thursday: Mrs. Joseph Noonan, Mrs. Thomas Breitwieser, Mrs. James McConnell, Mrs. John Fisher, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Mrs. Irving Kufin, Mrs. Lee Cronsdale and Mrs. Thomas Bennett; Friday: Mrs. Henry Tucker, Mrs. Joseph Noonan, Mrs. W. Gady Moore, Mrs. Nathan Meyer, Mrs. E. R. Travis, Mrs. Milo Singer, Mrs. F. L. Shay.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held in Delaware Water Gap. It was announced. A social time followed the business meeting. Punch and cookies were served by the hostesses: Mrs. Henry Tucker, Mrs. Warren Finner, Mrs. Ida Kunkle and Mrs. Miriam Lark.

A loaf pan that's about ten by five by three inches is fine for yeast breads, breads made with baking powder and loaf cakes.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

At least once in her life, almost everyone falls in love. Before it happens, there may be any number of "reasonable facsimiles thereof" that cause many a heartache and, in retrospect, countless amused chuckles. "Crushes" they called these incidents when I was a "teenager" . . . and the object of our affections was usually a celebrity whom we admired from afar.

I never wrote a fan letter, but my idea of a thoroughly wonderful person was Richard Arlen, of the movies. This week I saw Mr. Arlen on the stage of the Pocono Playhouse as "Mr. Roberts," and though he'll never know it, I'm much amused by attendant circumstances. At no time did I come closer to the east than the long aisle stretching between footlights and the last folding chair moved into the rear of the house . . . but on stage in one of the scenes was a love-seat of green leatherette, which Mr. Roberts didn't sit upon, but did walk past once or twice.

THAT love seat comes from my office here at Wyckoff's. When returned, I am inclined to have our display department hang above it a sign reading, "This Love Seat Appeared With Richard Arlen in 'Mr. Roberts.'" It's probably the most exciting thing that's happened to me since I fell flat on my face at the feet of Raymond Massey when he was being Abe Lincoln on Broadway.

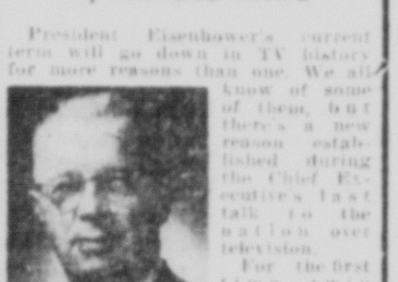

MEDIUM MINDS

"Little Minds talk about people; medium minds talk about things; great minds talk about ideas"—according to a phrase on the back of The Philosopher, a pleasant little magazine published by the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company. Today I'm definitely a "medium minded" individual, concerned with such things as you would find in every department of our store. Such things, for instance, as the stunning black velvet sheath dress in Mardee Wyckoff's fashion shop, with the snug neckline banded in MINK. Hummmmmmm! . . . or the pearl little hats of felt and velvet in our millinery departments both upstairs and down. (One in particular, not much larger than a postage stamp, has intricate self-braided trim, and is just about the color of tomato soup when you add lots of cream) . . . Then there are our very smart dresses for little girls made of cotton in a tweed-like finish, with clever button arrangements. The skirts just beg for polished crinolines that make tiny feet and eyes dance proudly . . . Also those new long-torso styles for little ladies, adapted from styles mother made popular several seasons back . . . Yes, I'm concerned with such things as Cricket, a new cotton finish that's noteworthy in children's and teens clothes this year. If the dress is exceedingly smart, darling, THAT'S cricket all right . . . I'm charmed too by the clear lucite handboxes for little glamazon queens now on sale at $1 in our cosmetics department. A perky blue bow peeks out of the top, and inside, where pennies will roll around later, there are bottles of bubble bath and castle shampoo by Cee, as well as a blue plastic comb. These purses are a clever idea, easily seen through, to teach a little lady the A. B. C. of grooming. "Tallulah" is here? Have you joined our Peoples Book Club yet? Miss Schweinhart ends her visit this week, you know!

President Eisenhower's current press will go down in TV history for more reasons than one. We all know of some of them, but there's a new reason, established during the Chief Executive's last talk to the nation over television, first June 1953. It was a scheduled one, but it was a White House broadcast. To explain in simple terms, these captions were set up so that the President's speech could be broadcast, telecast, and filmed for newsreels, with the sound captions screening out such noises as the whir of cameras.

TV NEWS

By HAROLD KNIPE

Prior to this use of the captions, speakers had to make two appearances, or posed shots, for newsreels; otherwise, all motions would be interfering to the degree of a blur.

Also along the line of new news for video, we see that in New York a six-foot screen was set up for a new color television system by which doctors could follow closely the technique of a delicate operation being televised on the big screen.

His bosses are breathing deep sighs over the success of Arthur Godfrey's operation, which will have the Redhead back before the Mike and Mervyn show. The network, had to give notice to the sponsors of his shows while the star has been away.

You can "see the stars" with real brightness and clarity on the easy to tune RCA VICTOR TV sets. Stop in and see for yourself at KNIPE TELEVISION & RADIO SERVICE, 15 N. Sixth St., Phone 252-J.

County Notes Fewer Deaths On Highways

A decline of seven motor vehicle and pedestrian deaths the first six months of this year in Monroe County stands out as one of the bright spots in the state's half-way mark which shows a drop of one death from January to June over the same period last year when 700 persons died in traffic accidents.

The month of June was a spotless one for Monroe County, with no traffic deaths recorded. In the previous five months, however, motor vehicle deaths totaled three, compared with nine in the first six-months of 1952. Pedestrian deaths dropped from two to one during that period.

During June, 86 persons lost their lives in Pennsylvania traffic accidents, the Bureau of Highway Safety statistics show.

Otto Messner, secretary of the Department of Revenue commented the record for June was the lowest for any one month in eight years, adding "The motorists and safety officials alike should feel proud of this record. But, at the same time, they cannot afford to relax their efforts in the constant battle with killings on the highway."

Pike County had a spotless record the first six months of this year. Last year, from January to June, two persons lost their lives in accidents there.

Wayne County had a clean 1952 record for the six month period, but two persons died there this year.

Neighboring Northampton County showed a decrease in pedestrian fatalities by four, one person died as the result of a city mishap this year. Their mark of nine deaths in traffic accidents for the first six months in 1952 did not change, however, nine persons having died in that period this year.

Egyptian Police Arrest 60 Reds

Cairo, Egypt, (AP)—Egypt's Vice Premier and Interior Minister, Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, said yesterday police had rounded up sixty persons in a big anti-Red dragnet over the weekend and had quantities of seized Communist pamphlets and duplicating machines.

The raids were carried out in various districts of Cairo, Nasser said in an interview, and those arrested will be tried before a special military court which has been set up to handle Communist cases. Twenty-three persons already are on trial before the tribunal.

Nasser said those arrested called themselves members of the "Democratic Rally."

Officials at the depot said Davis complained of severe back aches last Thursday and Friday. He was treated at the depot dispensary and advised to see his physician. Admission to the hospital Sunday followed.

Senators Schedule Hearings To Determine If Reds Are Getting Secret U.S. Data

Washington, (AP) Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said yesterday the Senate investigations subcommittee will start public hearings Monday to find out whether any Communists are getting their hands on secret documents printed by the government.

McCarthy, who is chairman of the subcommittee, announced the hearings after four witnesses were called for questioning behind closed doors.

He said the evidence still is inconclusive. So far, he said, it involves only one present employee of the government, but he told the committee that "more than one" top-secret work has been published and passed on in the main government printing office.

He said the subcommittee has spent most of its time exploring the possibility of anyone so inclined "paraphrasing a secret document and transmitting it to hands where it should not be."

Included in the material handled at the Printing Office, Dilsen said, were documents sent to it by the State and Defense Departments, the CIA and the AEC.

He was asked if the subcommittee knew whether any documents had been taken from the printing office, but he declined to say.

Duff Says Ike Must Exert More Rule Over Senate

Washington, (AP) Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.) said Monday night the death of Sen. Taft means that President Eisenhower will have to exert more direct leadership in the Senate.

Duff said he doesn't think anyone in the Republican party can "fill the shoes" of the late Senate majority leader.

"I think very positively that his death means the President will have to take a stronger direct hand," he said.

"Where he has taken such action in the past his leadership has been very effective."

Taft was the greatest unifying force among Senate Republicans, Duff said.

Englishman Wins Bet But Almost Lands In Jail

Venice, Italy, (AP) — A 23-year-old Englishman was sentenced to four months in jail yesterday for knocking a Venice policeman's hat off to win a bet from friends.

The judge suspended the sentence, but warned the youth to take the guardians of Italian law more seriously in the future.

Basil Reginald de Ferranti of Alderley, Cheshire, was arrested Saturday by a fleet-footed policeman whose white Summer hat went sailing across St. Mark's Square.

De Ferranti explained in court that friends had bet him a dinner he wouldn't dare knock the hat off the policeman's head.

New Refining Process Claimed

New York (AP) — A new refining process, which will aid in the exploitation of very low grade crude oils, was revealed yesterday by E. V. Murphree, president of Standard Oil Development Co., research and engineering affiliate of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

Murphree said the development will help conserve U. S. petroleum resources by making more gasoline and home heating oil from crude oil. The process, called fluid coking, provides refiners with a means until now could not be economically refined.

The Burlington and Union Pacific railroads were the first to use diesel-electric passenger locomotives.

THIS MIGHTY MIDGET Does a Better Job at Less Cost

Two questions are asked of every new development for the telephone business, and the answer to each must be Yes before it is put to general use:

1. Will it improve the quality of telephone service?
2. Will it help keep costs under control?

The mighty midget is one of the new developments that have passed this test. It's called a Transistor... it's as tiny as it looks... and it does the work of a vacuum tube, using one millionth of the power. Given less "juice" than is needed to make a flashlight bulb glow, it will amplify electric impulses a hundred thousand times.

The Transistor, in short, does a better job at less cost than vacuum tubes many times its size.

Such improvements as the Transistor come from a never-ending search for ways and means of improving telephone service while keeping costs under control. Scientists make such things possible, but telephone men and women—and you who use telephone service—point the way to their need.

Richard Arlen Heads Superb Cast In Fine Presentation Of Brisk 'Mister Roberts'

By Leonard Randolph

Mountainhome—"Mister Roberts," the finest comedy-melodrama to come from American military experience in World War Two, opened Monday night at Pocono Playhouse.

It is a brilliant, brisk, entertaining play brought to vivid life in almost all scenes by a professional cast under the direction of John O'Shaughnessy.

Richard Arlen gets top billing in the title role, but "Mister Roberts," more than any other drama going the rounds these days, is not a "star" play.

Li. (i. g.) Doug Roberts is the point upon which authors Thomas Heggen and Joshua Logan have concentrated, to be sure, since the conflict between him and the cargo ship's captain provides the main story line.

But "Mister Roberts" is an important play primarily because it illustrates, through writing and construction, the tremendous effect of excellent ensemble acting. The men who make up the crew of the AK601 must create the impressions of unity, dissension, dislike, mistrust and understanding for each other born of close quarters, stifling hot climates and corrosive boredom.

O'Shaughnessy's direction and the playing of a superb cast have brought full dimension to all these facets of the play.

Arlen is thoroughly competent and convincing as "Roberts" with the exception of his scene in the captain's quarters in which he sells his right to ask for transfer in exchange for general crew liberty. Roberts needs more conviction than Arlene gives him in this scene.

Dick Van Patten has played Ensign Pulver so long that by now the role belongs completely to him. Van Patten brings subtlety and distinction to a role which might easily become a caricature.

Raymond Bailey gives precisely the right touch of sarcasm and humor to his characterization of "Doc." Tony Dowling gives his best performance in the two seasons I have watched his work, as the tyrannical skipper, a fine piece of understatement and containment.

The cast is too large to enumerate each performance or to comment on individual qualities. Particularly noteworthy, however, are Robert Carson, Robert Baines, Douglas Langley, Metro Welles and Joseph Di Reda.

In addition to its actors, the playhouse production has the immeasurable benefit of excellent sets and lighting. Bailou has created authenticity from a technical assignment which surpasses the complex multi-set arrangements for "The Country Girl" two weeks ago.

"Mister Roberts" is the biggest "hit" the playhouse has had so far this season. It deserves every bit of success it may achieve.

The play's humor and tragedy are essential derivatives of the irony which grows from man's forced existence in an abnormal environment to which he cannot possibly hope to adjust.

There is a tendency on the part of audiences to read hilarity into every cuss-word which comes from the lips of the characters created by the late Thomas Heggen. In

Water Sports Program At Pool Today

More than six different water sports will be featured at 6:30 p. m. today at East Stroudsburg playground's water carnival.

The show will last more than an hour. Contestants will have a go at racing, water volleyball, water polo, rhythmic swimming, boys' and girls' diving, and a water ballet will be performed.

A feature of the carnival will be presentation by the Lions Club of awards for good citizenship, cooperation and conduct on the playground, and another for citizenship and improvement in swimming.

A pet parade will be held at the playground at 2 p. m. Monday, with prizes donated by East Stroudsburg merchants.

Killed By Tractor

Hubbardsburg (P)—Richard Simcox, 23, was killed near his home in this Centre County town yesterday when a tractor he was operating overturned, pinning him underneath.

In some instances this is thoroughly in keeping with the play's purposes. It is by no means the meat and bone of the matter, however.

Far in "Mister Roberts," Heggen assimilated from his own experience a realistic, uncompromising portrait of the backwash of war. Pungent language, as in the works of Norman Mailer, James Jones or Nicholas Monsarrat, is a symptom of the disease.

Laughter cannot destroy the subversive psychology which forces men to replace their basic drives with four-letter words.

In those portions of "Mister Roberts" which were stamped with the sensitivity of his work, Thomas Heggen showed promise of becoming one of America's greatest playwrights. His death, at the height of the play's popularity, was a tragic postscript to a masterful letter to the world.

Binghamton Loses Protest

Williamsport, Pa., (AP) The president of the Eastern League yesterday turned down the Binghamton Triplets' protest against the Reading Indians' sweep to a "doubleheader" here Monday night.

Thomas H. Richardson ruled that the clubs were playing only two games and completing another that had been postponed July 5 under the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law.

First Place

Reading's sweep of all three games put the Indians in first place, half a game ahead of the Triplets.

John Johnson, business manager of the Triplets, contended in his protest that the completion of a suspended game between Reading and Williamsport in connection with a regular doubleheader at Williamsport violated a regulation that no more than two games shall be played in any one day.

Reading took the suspended game, 5-4, and then went on to grab both ends of the doubleheader from Williamsport, 7-3 and 5-4.

Bankers Top Peoples Coal With Rally

Red Sox Sweep Pair From A's

Philadelphia (AP) The Boston Red Sox stood off late inning rallies by the Philadelphia Athletics twice last night to sweep a doubleheader 7-6 and 7-5.

Veteran reliever Ellis Kinder helped snuff out a ninth inning rally by the injury-riddled A's in the first game, paving the way for Mel Parnell's 16th win of the season.

The Red Sox broke the nightcap open with a five-run spree in the fourth inning and led it with two runs in the seventh. Then the A's rebounded with their four runs

Roseto Evens Series With Portland, 3-2

Deciding Tilt Scheduled For Sunday Play

Portland — Roseto fought its way back on an even standing with Portland in the first round Blue Mountain League playoff series last night with a thrilling 3-2 victory here on the losing contingent's home field.

A large crowd saw the home club break in front with one run in the second, but Bill "Lefty" Greenmeyer gave up the tying margin to Roseto in the top of the fourth frame.

Portland reached John Vybital, a right hander, for another singleton in the fifth to move in front by a 2-1 count at that point.

Portland changed the complexion of the game completely in the sixth inning with a two-run spree.

Runs

At "Red" Nerino opened with a single and held first as Harold "Hal" Nerino third to third. Dick Patehader was safe on Frank Sharp's error, and Greenmeyer hit Dominic "Zugs" DeFrance to load the bases. Joe D'Imperi singled Al Roseto home and Patehader crossed the plate while John Liberio was grounding out. A Portland double play ended the inning at this point and the visiting club went on to even affairs with the Apollos.

Portland opened the series on Monday by beating Roseto at Bangor, 2-0. The final game will be played at Portland on Sunday.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Walter Drescher, the outstanding walker now vacationing at Reeder's Inn, dropped into the office the other night to chat a little bit about many subjects, but mainly walking. Drescher, who is now 50 years of age, took up walking as a sport only two years ago and is now battling the best heel and toe artists in the country for top laurels. The New York resident is also preparing to set a new time and endurance mark for walkers next month, as we pointed out in this column the other day. The new mark will become official when Drescher completes the 130-mile journey from Montauk Point, Long Island, to city hall in New York.

But his latest assault on a record doesn't seem to disturb Walt a bit, as he plans to be back to work the following day. Drescher, a butcher, expects to be ready to work after a few hours sleep. The New York walker eats fruit, especially pears, during his marathon walks and drinks plenty of liquids. Drescher points out that there is more energy in the juice of a pear than that of the other fruits and so fits the situation best. Drescher plans to enter several walking races in the near future, including one in Montreal, although he's been in the business only two years.

Drescher is also a marathon runner and bicycle racer in addition to one of the rising walking experts in the country, despite his advanced age for active participation in sports. Walt pointed out that the trip from Reeder's to Stroudsburg is only a walk around the block and that he does 10 miles of walking each day to stay in shape, although he hasn't gone into serious training at this point. Driving 130 miles in one day is enough for most people, but here's a guy that walks the same distance in 24 hours and goes to work the next day.

A large group from Monroe County will be on hand for today's 28th running of the famed Hambletonian Stakes at Goshen, N. Y. Bill Prosser, Reeder's first baseman who suffered a serious ankle injury in the early portion of the present Pocono Mountains League campaign, is back at his familiar position with the same club. Tom Sommers, well known umpire in this area, will call the plays in a Little League baseball game at Pocono Highlands Camp in the near future.

Harry Schaeffer, former pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos and a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, won one and lost a single game last week for Kansas City of the American Association, both in relief roles. Harry, who is one of the hurlers with the most wins on the Kansas City roster has a record of eight wins and 10 setbacks. Last week's victory was over Toledo in the first game of a doubleheader, while the loss came in the nightcap of the same bargain bill. Schaeffer worked four innings in the opener and two in the nightcap.

George Condrick, a resident of Tannersville and a former hurler with the Stroudsburg Poconos, lost his fourth game of the International League season last week when Springfield won over Rochester, 3-2. George appeared in one other game last week in relief, but wasn't charged with the 8-4 loss at the hands of Buffalo. Condrick has pitched some fine ball this season and now owns seven victories.

Jack Cuttle, veteran pro at Pocono Manor, will play in the Anchorage Open Golf Tournament to be held at Wyoming Country Club on Monday, August 24. Tolyhanna failed to pick up enough players to make the journey to Hamlin on Sunday and in turn was forced to forfeit the Pocono Mountains Association baseball battle to Hamlin. It was the final contest of the season for Tolyhanna.

Buffalo Manager Reinstated Following Lie Detector Test

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—Jack Tighe, manager of the Buffalo Bisons, was cleared yesterday after a lie detector test of a charge he spat at an umpire.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, fined Tighe $100 for profane language, which he admitted.

The manager was suspended after a ruckus in a game Saturday night.

Umpire Max Fellerski charged Tighe spat at him in an argument over a batted ball in the eighth inning. Frank Carraway told the left field screen and the ball disappeared.

Victory
Fellerski ruled it a double. The Bisons claimed it was a home run. Buffalo won eventually, beating Springfield 1-0.

Tighe denied the spitting heatedly and volunteered for a lie detector test at police headquarters Monday. Afterward, the policeman in charge said Tighe answered "all the questions truthfully."

Three Bisons players took the test and backed up their manager's statement.

The results were airtight to Shaughnessy at league headquarters in Montreal. He reinstated Tighe in a wire to the Buffalo club yesterday.

Shaughnessy said Fellerski now felt the incident was accidental. Spitting at an umpire is regarded as a serious offense in the International League. In recent years, two players have been suspended an entire season for spitting.

Greenberg May Retain Position

Cleveland (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' president predicted yesterday that "General" Greenberg would be retained as general manager and added that whether Al Lopez continues as manager is up to Greenberg.

Statement
Myron H. Wilson, in an interview with a newspaper reporter, declared he was "thoroughly satisfied with Hank's work. His contract has another year to run and as far as I'm concerned, I hope he wants to stay with us. I never have met a man who works as hard at his job as Hank."

Mount Pocono's championship this year was in direct contrast to last year's last place finish.

Scoring

Both contingents picked up two runs in the first inning, one of the Pocono Lions scores coming on a home run by George Stiles. Mount Pocono tallied three times in the fourth and held the upper hand despite two runs in the fifth frame by the Pocono Lions.

Yesterday's action brought down the curtain on the Pocono Mountains Little League season for the present campaign.

Wilson Gains Nod Over Murray

Brooklyn (AP)—At "Sugar" Wilson, Englewood, N. J., welterweight, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Ted Murray, New York, at the Ridgewood Grove last night.

Wilson weighed 148, Murray 142.

Battle
Both boxers fought toe-to-toe for the 10 rounds, but Wilson, the more experienced, got in the better blows. Referee Jim Freeman scored the fight 5-5 but gave Wilson the verdict on points 6-5. Judge Tony Rossi gave it 6-4 and Judge Steve Arcuna 5-2.

Newport Star Favored In Hambletonian Today Although Outsiders Rate Serious Attention

Goshen, N. Y. (AP)—Twenty-three of the world's fastest three-year-old trotting horses have a date with the starter today in the $117,117.98 Hambletonian Stakes, richest in the history of this colorful hayseed derby being raced for the 28th time.

Outsiders have won the last two Hambletonians, and there's no saying a long shot won't upset the dope again today, but the pre-race favorite remains Newport Star from the Newport Stock Farm of Oelava Lake, South Plainfield, N. J.

Newport Star and his two stable-mates, Newport Mascot and Newport Champ, are listed at eight to five for the Goshen classic. The first heat around Good Time Park's dusty mile is set for 3 p.m. EDT, and the first horse, winning two heats is the champ.

There was one bad spill in yesterday's racing, forcing a change in drivers for the big race. Joe O'Brien of Del Mar, Calif., was thrown from his sulky when Meadow Pace fell in the final heat of the Geers Stake, and he was taken to Goshen Hospital suffering from severe shock.

He will be replaced as driver of Newport Champ by Stanley Dancer.

Three strong contenders are Victory's First, owned by the Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky.;

Bewitch, David R. Johnston, Charlotte, N. C., and Elby Hammer, C. M. Saunders, Toledo, Ohio, may turn up the real surprise. This lay son of Victory Song has the fastest race time this year for a sophomore trotter, a 2:03 1-5 clocking last week at Vernon Downs, N. Y.

His racing manners aren't the best.

"If he'd only let me do the driving it would be okay, but he wants to do things his own way," says Smart.

Still a strong second choice at three to one is Kimberly Kid, from the Allwood Stable, Fairhills, N. J., and driven by Tom Berry. Berry, at 71, is appearing in his 21st Hambletonian.

Sheble Wins Low Gross Prize At Shawnee

Shawnee-on-Delaware Miss Adelaide Sheble won low gross honors in yesterday's meeting of the Shawnee Women's Golf Association yesterday, here at Shawnee Inn, with a 93.

Mrs. James J. Bostwick captured low net laurels with a 73 score, while a three-way deadlock existed for second low net, each have 75. The trio consisted of Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. George Shillinger and Mrs. Robert Bixler Jr.

Mrs. George Robinson used the fewest putts to complete the round of 18 holes, as she used 30 strokes on the green.

Mrs. Janette Batory won the low net title among the guests with 74 strokes.

Yesterday's field consisted of 28 players, including five guests.

Next week the Shawnee Women's Golf Association will hold its annual all-events day, but the program will be featured on Friday instead of Tuesday because of the Philadelphia PGA being played at Shawnee next week.

Rangers Acquire Both Bentleys In Attempt To Rebuild Club

New York (AP)—The New York Rangers yesterday acquired the Bentley brothers — Doug and Max — two of the biggest names in hockey. At the same time they announced, Frank Boucher, would coach the team next season.

Boucher, who coached the Rangers from 1941 through 1948 and has been manager of the organization since 1946, succeeds Bill Cook, Cook, who with brother Ben and Boucher formed the greatest line in Ranger history, will be retained in some capacity.

Toronto

Max, younger of the Bentley brothers, was purchased from Toronto for an undisclosed sum. Doug, 37, was induced to leave his job as player-coach of the Saskatoon club in the Western League to rejoin his brother. The famous pair teamed up to star for six years with the Chicago Black Hawks.

Chicago Blanks Redlegs On Pitching Show By Minner, 1-0

Chicago (AP)—Paul Minner pitched the Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 1-0 victory over Cincinnati in the opener of a four game series before 7,322 here yesterday.

Seventh Loss

Minner yielded just three scattered singles and one walk in jostling his eighth win and the Cubs' first shutout success since Bob Rush blanked the Braves in Milwaukee May 9.

Jackie Collum, the Redlegs short southpaw, suffered his seventh setback as one of his four walks resulted in the game's only run.

Eddie Miksis walked on one out in the second, and moved to second on Clyde McCullough's infield scratch single. Hal Jeffcoat then followed with a line single to left, Miksis scoring.

Newfoundland Falls Before Lake Ariel

Newfoundland — A two-run rally in the home half of the seventh inning failed Newfoundland in a junior baseball game here recently as Lake Ariel went on to hang up a 4-2 decision on the losing club's home field.

Lake Ariel scored one run in the third inning and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

Advantage

The visiting nine tallied twice in the fourth and once in the seventh to construct a 4-0 advantage before Newfoundland was able to dent the scoring column for two runs in the home half of the last frame.

Lake Ariel was held to two hits, but took advantage of seven walks and three Newfoundland errors to do its damage.

A team of Newfoundland youngsters of the Little League age will play a Barrett Little League team tonight, at Barrett, and Gouldsboro, at Gouldsboro, tomorrow night.

Turner Meets Fuentes In Major Bout

New York (AP)—Aggressive Gil Turner hopes to better Kid Gavilan's par from the Ramon Fuentes course when he meets the Los Angeles welterweight in a 10 rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight. Fuentes, a 27-year-old ex-Marine and eighth ranking 147-pounder, was floored by Gavilan but went the 10 round distance against the world champion in Milwaukee July 15. The defeat snapped Fuentes' win string at 14. His record is 19-2-2.

Another Shot

Turner, second ranking contender, is aiming for another title shot with the Cuban Kid. A knockout victory over the clever Californian would boost his case considerably.

The 22-year-old Philadelphia mauler is a three to one favorite to win the telecast bout. The scrap will start at 10 p.m. (EDT) and will be telecast coast to coast by CBS.

Browns Trade End

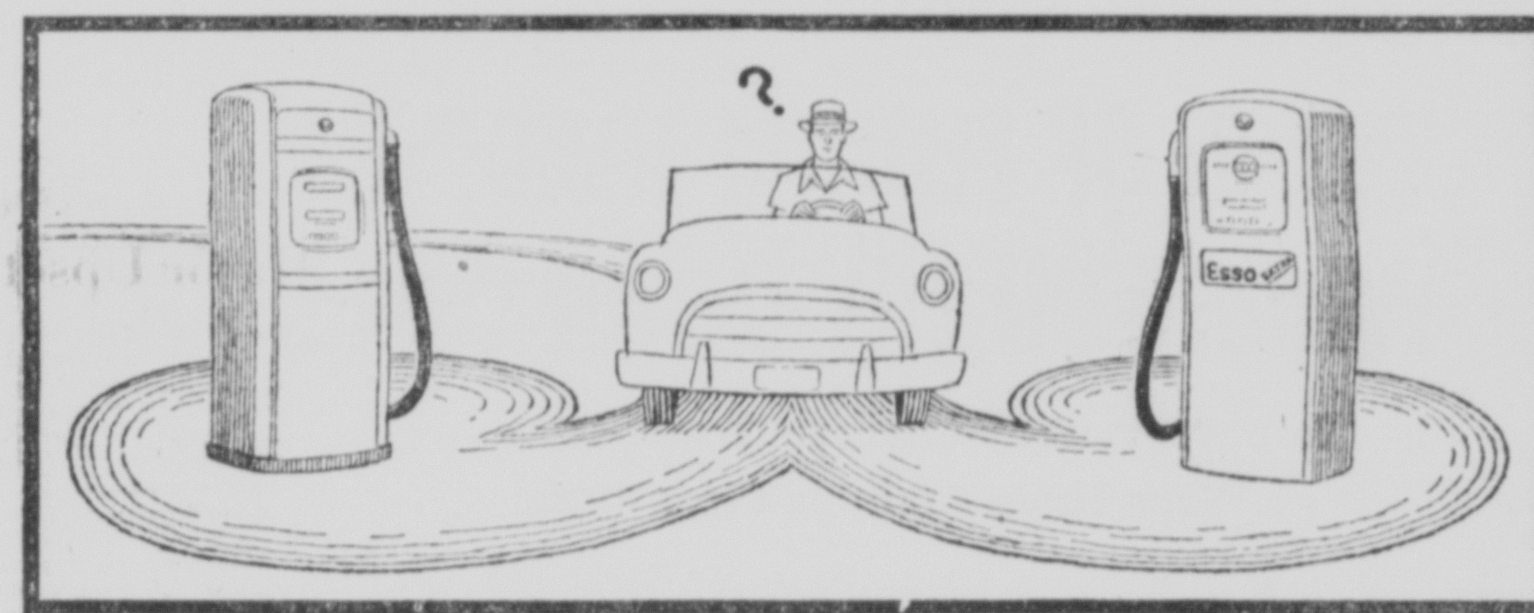

Hiram, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Browns traded Bob Van Dooren, a rookie end from USC, to the San Francisco 49ers yesterday for a choice in the 1954 pro football draft.

When 2 brands of gasoline cost you about the same . . .
how much difference can there be?

Both come from fine petroleum families, bearing well-respected names. You could find them across the street from one another, and a tankful of either will make about the same size dent in your pocket-book.

BUT . . . if one of them is Esso Extra, the overall difference between it and the other is apt to be surprisingly great. The difference between what you and your engine get for what you pay in the course of a year can be a very big difference, indeed.

We don't mean, of course, that the difference in Esso Extra will knock your hat off in 100 yards, or that it will make a tired old engine kick its heels like a lamb in the spring. Nor do we mean the other gasoline isn't good. It is good.

But we do mean that the man who always stops to see his Esso Dealer will get in Esso Extra a gasoline that meets the highest all-round, year-round standard of performance quality to be found.

If you'd like to have some proof, here it is:

We take eight qualities which automotive engineers have agreed are important in a gasoline, and which can be scientifically measured.

1. Sheer Power; 2. High Anti-Knock; 3. Long Mileage; 4. Clean Engine Operation; 5. Quick Starting; 6. Fast Warm-up; 7. Hot Weather Anti-Vapor-Lock; 8. Cool Weather Anti-Stalling.

Then we measure Esso Extra against competing brands for these performance qualities. And time after time in these tests Esso Extra meets the highest standard of overall year-round performance quality.

So it's not surprising . . . is it? . . . that Esso Extra is by far the most popular of all premium fuels in the area served by Esso Dealers!

And it wouldn't be surprising . . . would it? . . . if you and your own faithful engine would have Happier Motoring if your tank always contained Esso Extra!

Esso Extra meets today's highest standard of year-round gasoline performance!

ESSO ROAD MAPS make travel easier and more interesting. If you're planning a trip, be sure to ask your Esso Dealer to have it map-routed by Esso Touring Service. While you're at your Esso Dealer's have him give you car a complete lubrication and careful check-up for many miles of "Happy Motoring."

East Stroudsburg Sergeant Wounded In Action Two Days Before Korean Truce Signed

The truce in Korea came two days late for an East Stroudsburg serviceman.

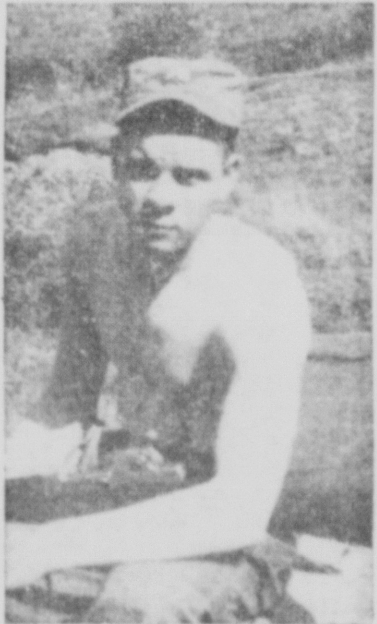

Sgt. Charles P. Cannon was wounded in action July 24 when his position was hit by artillery fire, according to word received here by his wife, Mrs. Gladys Cannon, 64 Lenox Ave.

Mrs. Cannon received the following wire from U. S. Army Adjutant General William E. Bergin:

Sgt. Cannon entered service in June, 1952. He was sent overseas seven months ago; has been serving on front lines in Korea since that time.

Mrs. Cannon has been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Lavender at the Lenox Ave. address.

The family moved to this area last November from Pittston. Sgt. Cannon has a six-month-old daughter, Gloria Jean, whom he has never seen.

THINK OF FUTURE TRADE-IN WHEN YOU TRY OUT A CAR!

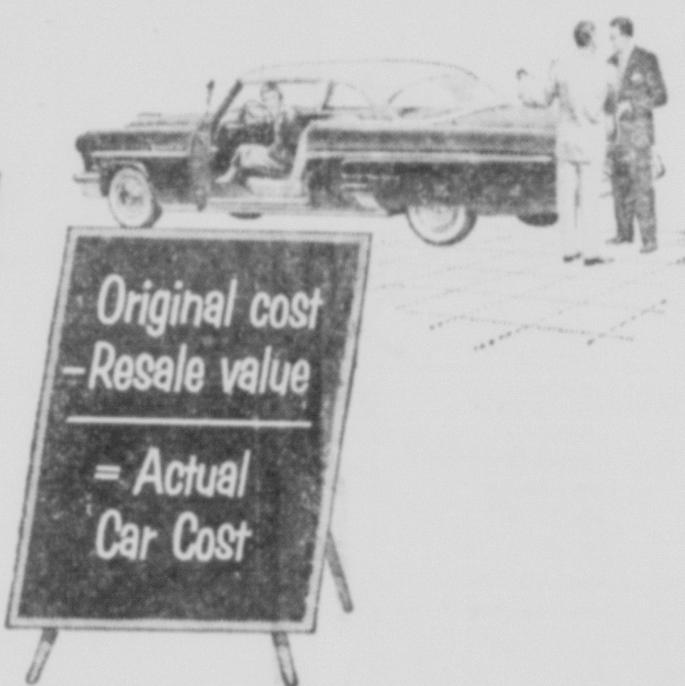

Reports Prove Mercury's Trade-In Value Tops Them All in Its Price Class!

Smart shoppers know the actual cost of a new car isn't found on the price tag. When you buy a car you're making an investment. When you sell or trade in that car, one, two, or more years later—you get back part of your original purchase price. With some cars, this resale value is disappointingly small. But with Mercury—according to four independent, impartial surveys—you get the highest resale value in the entire Mercury price class.

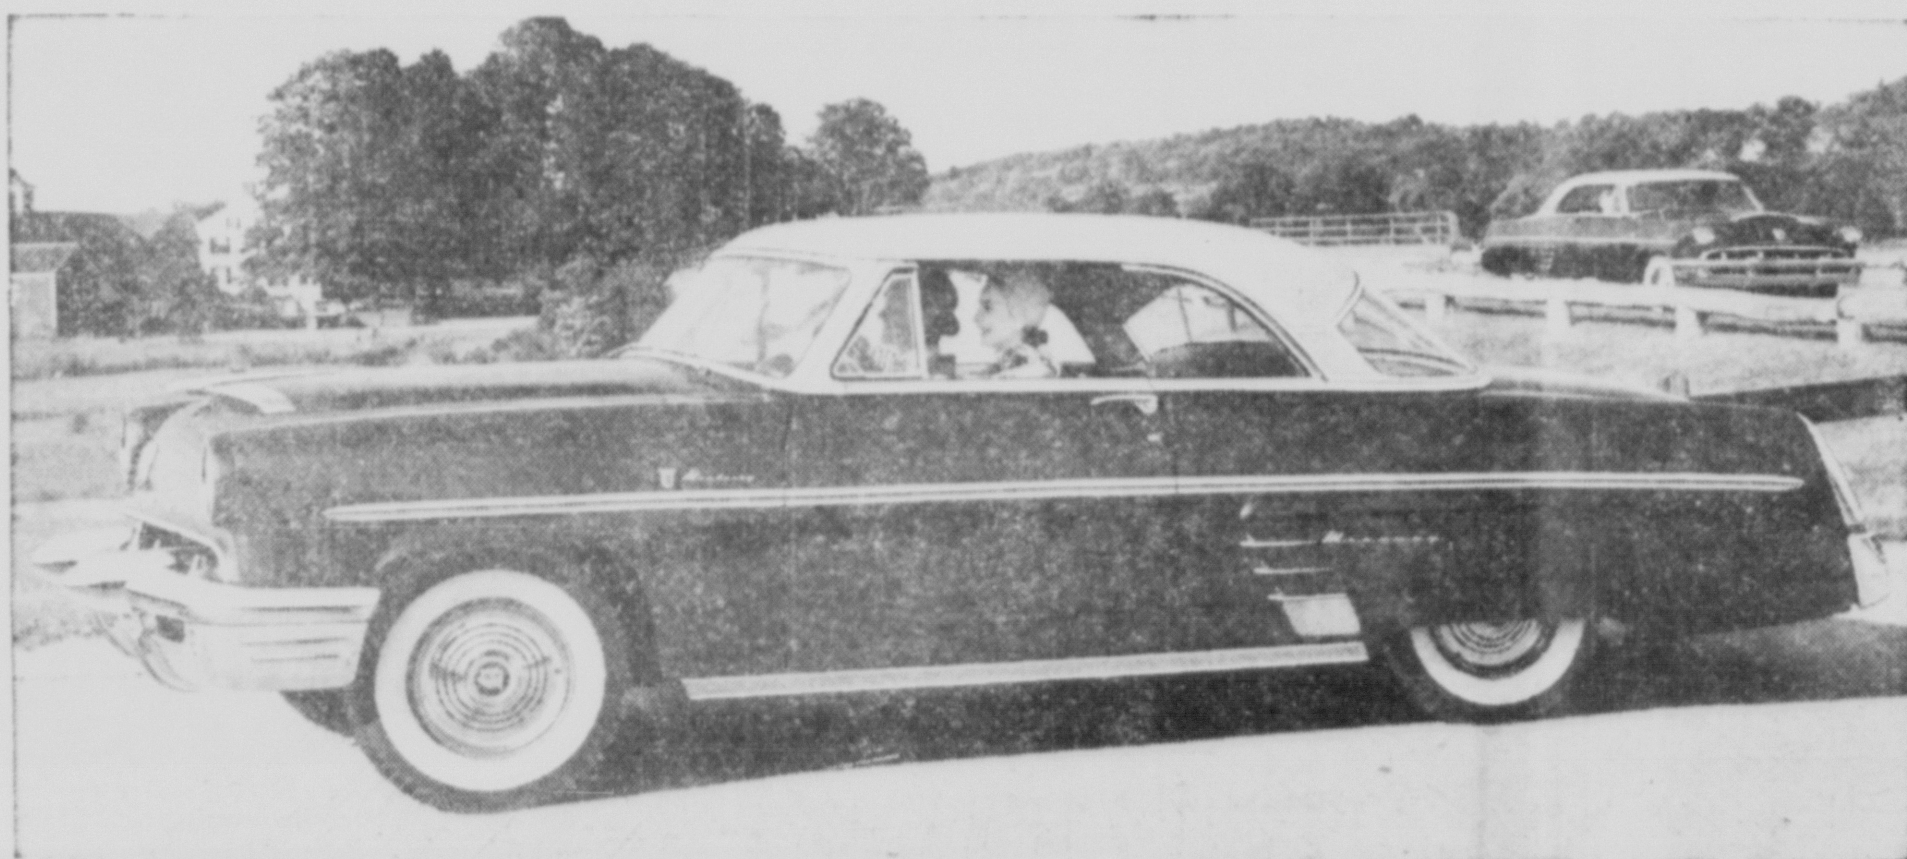

The reason? Mercury's consistent years-ahead styling, for one thing. Clean, long, low lines that set the style and stay in style. Colorful interiors that keep their smartness for years. And Mercury's proven V-3 performance is another reason. A V-3 engine is the only type ever used in Mercury—and this latest is the best performer we've ever built.

So—before you buy any car—get the story on Mercury. Find out about Mercury's optional power features—the widest choice in the field—check on Mercury's proven economy. Above all, try a Mercury ride! We feel sure you'll agree no other car will do!

Second Grade Club Given Recognition

Portland — The Second Grade Play-Mate Club of the Delaware, N. J., school has received recognition by a national magazine for the outstanding work it has done during the past year to help children less fortunate than themselves.

Their picture and a letter of commendation has been printed in the August issue of the Children's Play-Mate magazine.

This club of ten members, all under eight years of age, was organized in September, 1952, by their teacher, Mrs. Virginia Predmore of Portland. They elected officers and carried out weekly meetings. They took gifts which they had made to near-by hospitals each month.

In January this small group of children aided by their teacher and some helpful parents carried out a door-to-door canvass for the March of Dimes. They were notified by the National Polio Foundation that because of their work, Knowlton Township of New Jersey topped last year's goal by $100.00.

Since Mrs. Predmore, their last year's teacher, has accepted a position at Washington Township, Port Colden, N. J., for the coming year, the group hopes to continue this

The performers will ride some of the roughest stock to come out of the West. The show will be presented at the Stroudsburg Speedway under the auspices of the Stroudsburg Lions Club to finance the organization's charities.

Fair Lists Featured Entertainers

Newfoundland — "The Musical Minors," a teen-age Dixieland jazz band which has made numerous appearances on national television network shows, is one of the free entertainment features to be presented at the 37th annual Greene-Dreher Community Fair to be held here August 27, 28 and 29.

Dr. Robert Rochfort, chairman of the fair's entertainment committee, announced last night that the "Minors" will appear as part of the Friday night program. Free entertainment will be available each night of the three-day event as well as Saturday afternoon, the chairman said.

Most recent appearance of the "Minors" before a nation-wide audience was on the Ken Murray show from Hollywood, where the group also made a motion picture short subject. Following the close of Murray's TV show for the summer months, the "Minors" toured West Coast theaters in the comedy-drama "Western Blackouts."

Organized in Scranton five years ago, the unit first attracted nation-wide attention by winning a TV amateur show, following which they made numerous guest appearances on the Paul Whiteman program and other TV shows.

The young musicians will return to the Pacific Coast next month to continue their television, motion picture, theatre and night club appearances.

Both the junior and senior bands of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling school, under the direction of John Strupewski, are slated to appear at the fair. The senior band of 60 pieces will play Thursday night and the junior edition, made up of 40 pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at the local school, will provide music Saturday afternoon.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. A-241

DESIGN A-241. A single open arrangement is the feature of this plan which consists of living room, kitchen-dinette, utility room, bath, two bedrooms and carport. Full length windows in the living room overlook the garden and terrace and the living room is separated from the dinette by a folding partition. Plumbing is concentrated in one area and the utility room is practically a continuation of the kitchen with a sliding door between. It houses heating and laundry equipment, coat closets, storage closet, supply cabinet and work counter.

Other points of interest are the terrace, outdoor grill, wide entrance overhang, planting area, wide siding, brick facing from chimney to entrance. Floor area is 1,009 sq. ft. with 10,335 cu. ft., not including the carport.

For further information about DESIGN A-241, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Turn Kitchen Into Area Of Friendliness

In spite of the added convenience sleek new equipment and ready-made cabinets give today's kitchen, some folks feel a little sad about the old-fashioned one that was such a cozy spot.

True, brilliant new linoleums, fabrics, paint and tile do a lot to counteract the antiseptic look of stark white or pale ivory appliances. But if you'd like to soften some of the sharp angles and hard surfaces without destroying efficiency, call in a carpenter who's handy with saw. With a few artful ideas of your own and his ingenuity you can give your modern kitchen new friendliness that will take it out of the class of mere food factory.

Try framing windows all around in wooden casings with scalloped, saw-tooth or scroll edges, or even composed of narrow lattice work. With or without sheer glass curtains they depart from the stiff pattern of unadorned rectangles. Trade your ordinary half-glass door for a solid one painted a bright color.

Have your carpenter cut a small glass covered window at eye-level in some unusual shape and you can still see who's knocking. Your bar stool could be a Dutch type, too, decorated with colorful designs. An interior door can repeat the same pattern.

Cutouts, lattices or burlaps in wooden cabinet doors add a gay touch and backing cutouts with plastic screening will preserve their function of protecting supplies or utensils.

Conceal tubular lights behind casings that are keyed to other designs, either above sink, stove or counter areas. More features to "cozy" your kitchen are shelves of blossoming plants and greenery, unusual plates on narrow racks, a small cork bulletin board for recipes, menus or household notes. Brackets built one above the other on a narrow wall can hold antique or glasses filled with growing ivy.

Try using a linged table in the kitchen.

I plan to refinish my living room in different shades of green. The sofa and chair are slip-covered in a solid medium green. I am planning to paint the walls light green and the woodwork white. Should I paint the ceiling the same color as the walls or should I paint it white?

I thought of using a light green flowered material for the extra chair cover and the draperies. Would this be too much green or should I use another color?

Using a contrasting color for the draperies and extra chair slip cover would give the room more interest. I suggest a floral pattern on a bright flame background.

Two pairs of double windows in my living room have radiators under them. I do not have venetian blinds and want to get draperies right away. How would you treat these windows? The walls of the room are rose, furniture is deep blue and the rug is wine colored. What color do you suggest for the draperies, and should I use cornices?

I suggest one pair of floor-length draperies and two pairs of six-inch glass curtains for each unit topped by cornices painted to match the walls. For the draperies I suggest a floral pattern in wine, rose and green on a gray background and for the glass curtains, peach nylon.

We are remodeling our kitchen and would like some advice. The walls are going to be knotty pine. Should we stain them a pale color or leave them a natural finish? The cabinets will be white. What colors would you suggest for the linoleum and curtains?

I advise a natural finish for the knotty pine walls. For the linoleum I suggest green and for the curtains, chintz or percale with a small pattern in red and green on a yellow background.

For some time to come we will find it necessary to use a sun parlor as a bedroom. It has six windows and a door. The rug has a pattern of light and dark green leaves with rose and yellow flowers on a gray background. Will you offer color suggestions for the walls, woodwork, ceiling and draw curtains?

Paint the walls and woodwork light green, the ceiling yellow and repeat this last color in the draw draperies.

Finishing touches are needed in our kitchen. The wallpaper is a red, green, blue, yellow and white pattern on a gray background. Lower walls, cabinets and woodwork are painted light green. The counter tops are red and the linoleum is dark green and yellow. Please suggest colors for a chrome dinette set and for curtains for the room's four windows.

I would pick red for the curtains, yellow for the chrome dinette set.

Adequate Stocks Of Books Provide Handyman With Lots Of Suggestions, Instructions

The do-it-yourself movement, ordinarily household chores and home workbench hobbies are going high-brow.

It seems that the home craftsman doesn't have a complete workshop without a library.

Bookstores and news stands are stocked with literature telling the handyman how to do everything including how to buy another house when he runs out of room for improvement.

This supply of brains for our brains is so extensive that Business Week magazine recently called the attention of industry in general to the number of publications which are enticing its amateurs to make trips to the local hardware store, paint store, building supply house and what not.

One of the most sensible of the new books, which has come to our attention, is "The Home Owner's Complete Guide To Remodeling" by Hubbard Cobb (Houghton Mifflin Co.). You'd think that individual houses vary so widely that a practical book on remodeling would be next to impossible. But Cobb has done so much work around his own house in Connecticut that he has a sixth sense for information of use to others. His book is easy to read, because he writes exactly as he talks.

"Power Tools for the Home Craftsman" by Edwin G. Hamilton (McGraw Hill Book Co.) is especially timely with basements and garages now humming with machinery. What power tool to buy first, and why, how to use it and what you can do with it are subjects that make Hamilton's book a valuable contribution to the amateur.

"Household Mechanics" by Earl L. Bedell and Ernest G. Gardner (Grosset & Dunlap) has been out for some time now, but certainly deserves notice. For fundamental care and repair of the home, it would be hard to beat this volume as a handbook and guide.

Henry Lionel Williams of Sherrill, Conn., who earns his living rebuilding old houses and old furniture, has written "The Calendar

Remember, make the kitchen as pleasant and inviting as you can because it's one room you have to live with every day, morning, noon and night.

Reds Gave Their Best But Lost

by Chung-Shu Kwei

has suffered "a defeat." Is this the case?

If by "defeat" is meant a diplomatic defeat, then the final verdict must await the outcome of the political conference which is scheduled to follow the truce. At the conference table, there is as much likelihood for the Communists to suffer a diplomatic defeat as for the free world.

If by "defeat" is meant a military defeat, then the insinuation must be repudiated most emphatically.

At this juncture, let us remember two simple facts: When the Korean Communists began their aggression in June, 1950, their avowed aim was to unify Korea by force; when the Chinese Communists came upon the Korean scene in October, 1950, their boast was to drive the UN forces "into the sea."

The conclusion of the truce means that the Korean Communists have failed to unify Korea by force; and it also means that the Chinese Communists have failed to drive the UN forces into the sea. And in their double failure lies the military victory for the free world.

One more point to consider. The Communists, Korean and Chinese alike, employed the greatest number of troops and the most up-to-date weapons in an all-out war against the UN forces, while the UN forces were committed to a limited war and were restrained from using the most powerful weapons against the Communists.

In spite of this disparity, the Communists could not overrun all of Korea though they desperately tried to; in spite of this disparity, the UN forces did succeed in driving the Communists back beyond the 38th Parallel—the line from which the Communists embarked upon their aggression. The Communists did their best and lost; the UN forces did their minimum and stood their ground.

This point has been labored because there prevails in the free world a fateful impression that the Communists are almost invincible and are to be feared. Thus, we hear almost everywhere the warning that the Communists will use the truce to build up their military strength against the free world.

Even so, is there anything, except this fear of the Communists, which may prevent the free world from using the same truce to further strengthen its already superior military position against the Communists? Indeed, it is the truce as an implied form of defeat which should make the Communists fear the free world.

On the eve of his appointment as the Supreme Commander of the proposed European army in December, 1950, General Dwight D. Eisenhower said:

"We in the free world are frightened because we are disunited."

Conversely, if the free world stands united, it need not be frightened. And if a military genius like General Eisenhower is not frightened, why should not the free world take counsel and courage from him?

Woman Dies In Bathtub During Spasm

Riverhead, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Carmel Marie Schultz, 28, formerly of Scranton, Pa., was found dead in the overflowing bathtub of her Colonial Arms apartment here Monday.

Dr. John H. Nugent, Suffolk County coroner, after an autopsy, returned a verdict that death was caused by "an epileptic spasm."

The body was found by the woman's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Schultz, when she returned from work at a grill. She said the bathroom door was locked and running water was overflowing the tub.

Mrs. Schultz took the body from the tub and called Dr. Victor K. Young, who has an office nearby. Riverhead firemen made a vain attempt to revive the woman.

Miss Schultz was born in Scranton and lived there 15 years. The body was sent to Dunmore, Pa., near Scranton, where a funeral mass will be said Thursday morning.

Price Index Hits Highest Level Of Year

Washington, Pa.—Wholesale prices as measured by the government reached their highest level of the year last month.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said yesterday its wholesale price index rose 1.3 per cent in July to 110.9 per cent of the 1947-1949 average. The previous high, 110 per cent was last March.

The July rise, BLS said, was the largest single monthly rise in 2½ years.

Farm products rose 2.6 per cent which processed foods went up 2.1 per cent.

The wholesale price index for all other commodities rose only .8 per cent.

Higher prices for livestock, poultry, milk, and grain were largely responsible for the general increase in the level of farm products wholesale prices.

The increase in prices of processed foods was traced mainly to higher prices for most meat and poultry.

Forces Red Revolt

Washington, (AP)—George Kennan, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, predicted Monday that revolution will break out eventually "in the Soviet orbit" and he pictured Russia's danger to the outside world as probably on the wane.

Alaskan City Plagued By Ice Shortage

Fairbanks, Alaska (AP) — This northernmost American city, only 133 miles from the Arctic Circle, is suffering from an ice shortage.

To fill the gap, and the city's sinking highball glasses, ice is being dynamited by the ton from an interior Alaska glacier (estimated age: 18 million years) and trucked 200 miles to the city.

Harvesting the ancient ice is a dynamite and bulldozer proposition. W. D. Fitzgerald, the city's ice house tycoon, took a boiler to the glacier to thaw holes in Worthington Glacier.

Dynamite blasts are set in the holes, a bulldozer scoops up the scattered chunks and they are sawed into blocks of from 50 to 500 pounds each for trucking.

The sub-Arctic ice problem began developing back in April. Spring came early and warmly. The usual ice supply is cut from frozen ponds outside the city. But of the 1,000 tons of ice cut from the ponds this year, only about 600 tons were salvaged by summer time. The short supply combined with an exceptionally warm summer to empty the ice house.

Benefit Concert Program To Feature Lois Marshall, Soprano, And Piano Team

Back Hill Falls—An outstanding musical treat of the current season is the joint-artist concert for the benefit of the Buck Hill Community Services Fund, featuring Lois Marshall, soprano discovery and the duo-piano team of Whittemore and Lowe, who are appearing in the Buck Hill Auditorium at 8:30 p. m. August 21.

Admission to the concert, entire proceeds of which are being contributed to the Barrett Township and Monroe County Charities, the American Friends Service Committee and the National YMCA, is by a contribution of $10 for which each donor receives one ticket.

Luck is hardly the element that one thinks of in connection with Miss Marshall's rise to fame, even though it may have seemed an overnight success to the New York public that heard her or heard about her Town Hall debut as a Naumburg Award winner in December, 1952.

Success, achieved through years of hard work, is shown by the approval Miss Marshall has already won throughout Canada and is now winning in this country. Her operatic experience so far has been via radio in broadcasts over the Canadian Broadcasting System as well as the singing roles of Leonora in Beethoven's "Fidelio," Donna Anna in Mozart's "Don Giovanni" and "The Queen of the Night" in Mozart's "Magic Flute."

The duo-pianists, Whittemore and Lowe, have achieved success through musical collaboration, sympathy and long hours of practice together. Together they are playing an varied Strauss, Waltz, an intricate work of Stravinsky of a comparatively simple Bach transcription.

Enticing workers and excellent musicians, they play effectively all the standard music originally written for two pianos and have enlarged their collection to over 170 of their own transcriptions of selections, ranging from the classics to the best popular music of today.

Tickets to the Lois Marshall, Whittemore and Lowe Benefit Concert may be obtained by writing to Box Office Manager, Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

State Trooper Testifies Storch Admitted Hiring Man To Kill 'Insanely Jealous' Wife

Butler, Pa.—A state police sergeant testified yesterday that Ernest E. Storch broke down under questioning about his wife's death and hysterically confessed that he paid a man to kill her because she was "insanely jealous."

Sgt. William L. Nevin said the 50-year-old truck mechanic poured out the story "so fast I couldn't take complete notes."

"Storch put his arms around me and I had an arm around him," Nevin said. "He cried like a baby as he told me the story."

Nevin, a lie detector expert, quoted Storch as saying:

"The agreement was that Walt (Henderson) would take her out of my life because of the insanely jealous 20 years I spent with her."

Henderson, 26, and Russell Budd, 28, Pittsburgh, are serving life terms in Western State Penitentiary for choking and stabbing to death Storch's wife, Alice in their home near Zelienople last Feb. 24.

Henderson pleaded guilty to killing Mrs. Storch and Budd was convicted. Both testified to receiving a $3,500 down payment of a promised $10,000 for the killing. Nevin said Storch admitted meeting Henderson's sister, Ethel, who the commonwealth charges contacted Richard Haines to hire the killers for a share of the money. She and Haines are slated for trial next month.

Storch, sandy and balding, pleaded innocent when arraigned before visiting Judge J. Frank Graff of Armstrong County on charges of being an accessory before the fact. If convicted he could be sent to the electric chair.

In picking the jury of 10 men and two women, Dist. Atty. Clark H. Painter selected only those having no scruples against the death penalty.

In his opening remarks to the jury, Painter said:

"This is a sordid story of murder for hire, brought on this man (Storch) and we will ask for a verdict in a manner in the form of the indictment."

Coroner J. Clinton Atwell testified that Mrs. Storch was strangled with a "cord-like" material. He said she also suffered stab wounds of the abdomen and side.

Dr. Kalpe M. Weaver, pathologist at Butler County Memorial Hospital, said she died of a fractured larynx.

Meanwhile, five state policemen reportedly are searching for a key witness, Mrs. Mildred Lorenz, a Brushtown widow, to subpoena her to testify.

Storch claims he was watching television at her home the night his wife was slain.

Sgt. Nevin testified yesterday that Storch told him:

Motels Attract Increasing Number Of Motoring Public

By A. VERNON DAVIS

Central Press Correspondent
Albuquerque, N. M.—Indians are staging war dances again out here in New Mexico, but this time they are for the entertainment of motel patrons.

At least one motel in Albuquerque includes an evening of real Indian dancing as a regular feature for its nomadic patrons. A family of Indians—mother, father and three youngsters—entertains the overnight visitors, dancing in full native regalia.

In an age of travel that has yet to hit its stride, the motorist is being wooed for his patronage by the country's newest boom industry—the roadside motor court.

It is estimated there are 40,000 such courts in operation this summer, and they are trying to outdo one another in their bid for business. For instance, there is a motel in Denver, Colo., that serves coffee in bed in the morning.

In areas served by television stations, no self-respecting motel would be without TV sets for its patrons. Most of them operate on the 25-cents-for-half-an-hour meter plan, while a few motels provide free television or charge a flat $1 per night for the service. Radios are almost universal.

To the motorist and his family who are anxious to "do" a city in a limited time during an over night stay, the offers of motels this summer are veritable travel bureaus. Maps, folders, postcards, facts and figures on scenic and historic towns are all available for the asking.

In Colorado Springs you can check in at a motel, buy tickets for the long trip to Pike's Peak, and the next morning a limousine will arrive at your motel door to take you and the family on the long ascent. You leave your own car locked securely in the garage adjoining your "home away from home." No muss, no fuss.

For the normal "comforts of home" the motel of today cannot be beaten. Your "room" in a motel often is two or three rooms—sleeping and living room, dressing room, fancy powder room.

The local newspaper is usually left at your door of an evening, so it's a simple matter to hone up on the local doings. Some towns, such as Colby, Kan., publish a small news sheet for out-of-town visitors, listing all the entertainment available in the area for the current week.

In Columbus, O., one motel hands its guests a card, suggesting a fine restaurant and a well equipped service station, all clustered together for easy access. A note on the card bears this thought:

"A delicious dinner, car completely serviced for tomorrow's trip and a refreshing night of sleep—memories we hope will bring you back."

Your motel will probably be air conditioned, so you can spend a comfortable afternoon of rest and relaxation, and you will be refreshed when it's time to "do the town" in the evening.

There seems to be something new on the horizon for the vacationing highway traveler—a credit card system for regular patrons who carry a certificate on the order of credit cards used now by all leading oil companies. With a motel and gasoline credit card, the motorist may soon find it more convenient and a lot safer to travel with less cash.

Sixteen members of the class held an outdoor picnic supper at Resaca Falls last Friday night. They plan an all day picnic on Saturday to Lake Walenpaupack. They will make the Kulp bungalow their headquarters.

Water skis and motor-boating will feature the outdoor activities. Maurice H. Miller, class president, said cars will leave the church at 9:30 on Saturday morning.

Other recent class activities include the purchase of yard of carpet for the new sanctuary carpeting project and also the scheduling of a skating party at the Carmen Park, Minnisk Hills on Tuesday, August 25, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m., which will be open to the public.

Honorable Heller, Editor,
Daily Record
Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

Read your item on Les Merring's communication with Channel 3. This was a fine piece of public service on your part. Many folks were worried, especially those who can get nothing but Channel 3.

I thought the attached item from Channel 10 might interest those of us who have always had trouble with that "Will-o-the-Wisp."

Cordially,
PAUL BARTHOLOMEW

Mr. Paul Bartholomew
245 Hoffman Street
East Stroudsburg, Pa.
Dear Mr. Bartholomew:

Referring to your letter of July 26, we are aware that one signal from WCAU-TV is not as strong as we wish it to be in the fringe areas. We applied for an increase in power to 316 KW on July 2, 1953 and no action has been taken as yet by the Federal Communication Commission. We will be on the air as quickly as possible with the new power but it means a new transmitter, antenna and possibly a new transmitting site which will take some little time.

Please bear with us during the interim.

Cordially yours,
J. G. LEITCH,
Director of Engineering

BLUE RIDGE INN BUYS WURLITZER Piano from Krash Piano & Organ Co.

Featured is Charles Theodore at the keyboard of their recently purchased Wurlitzer Piano from Krash Piano & Organ Co. of Easton. The Blue Ridge Inn, in Middle Smithfield Township, Rt. 209, provides the finest of entertainment and the best of foods. "Good music demands good instruments," say musicians, "and that's why we bought a Wurlitzer from Krash's," said the proprietor.

Did You Know...

...that Krash's have delivered over 1000 Pianos, Organs and Accordions in the 8 years they've been in business, and there's never been a complaint that hasn't been taken care of, immediately, thus good will, good relationship and good business... that Wurlitzer Organs are more popular now than pianos, and easier to play... about the 22 adult Piano and Organ pupils in our studios who started without any knowledge of music and are doing very well... that we are starting a Harp instruction course... that pupils of our studios appeared at Ashenbach Grove Farm Show and were well received... that we are the exclusive agency for Wurlitzer, Lester, Cable-Nelson, Everett, Chickering, Mason & Hamlin and Gulbransen Pianos, and Wurlitzer Organs, Excelsior Accordions... that our Spinnet-type Pianos at $295.00 are very popular...
